U.S. Navy To "Stand On It's Own Feet"

NO FOREIGN AID SOUGHT, SAYS LEAHY

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.—(UP)—Admiral William D. Leahy, chief of naval operations, today told the house naval affairs committee that the United States fleet expects to "stand on its own feet" in national defense. He flatly denied any foreign commitments or understandings.

"The navy has no thought of obtaining assistance from any other nation," Leahy said.

"No commitments

"It has no thought of giving assistance in the solution of the problem."

HULL DEFENDS TRADE PROGRAM

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.—(UP)—Less than two days after warning that the United States will build larger battleships, if necessary, Secretary of State Cordell Hull defended today that all nations make a "determined effort" to promote peace through reciprocal trade treaties and limitation of armaments.

Declaring that this country stands ready at any time to help bring about "a general limitation and reduction of armaments," Hull, speaking over a nationwide radio hookup last night, reiterated, however, that this nation would continue to "render adequate our military and naval establishment."

Defends Policy

The speech ostensibly was a defense of the administration's reciprocal trade treaty program which, Hull said, "is a standing offer to other nations to join with us in a determined effort to promote economic appeasement and security."

He warned the "have-not" nations—those not self-sufficient economically—that "they can all too easily be misled into attempting to secure by force of arms what, under stable world conditions, they would be able to obtain much more fully through peaceful means."

COUNTY RESIDENT 40 YEARS CALLED

Mrs. Annie L. Bibber, Orange county pioneer, passed away Saturday at her home in Whittier where she had lived for the past seven years. She was 84 years of age and had lived in Orange for 40 years before going to Whittier. She was born in England where she resided until coming to the United States.

Survivors are one daughter, Mrs. Alice Van Bibber, and a stepdaughter, Miss Prince Bibber. The Rev. Otto Russell, former Baptist minister of Santa Ana, will conduct the service. Interment will be made in Fairview.

Mrs. Bibber was prominent in club work in the county for many years.

Plan Arraignment Of Plot Suspects

WILLOWS, Cal., Feb. 7.—(UP)—Arraignment of Miss Leonora Simpson, wealthy Glenn county cattlewoman, and two of her cowboys on charges of conspiracy to commit murder, was planned in superior court here today as counsel for the three sought their release on bonds.

The three were indicted by the county grand jury because of an alleged plot to kill Harry W. McGowan, former district attorney, and one-time legal representative of Miss Simpson. The indictments accuse Miss Simpson and her two employees, Lloyd Henderson and Dan McGowan, of offering $500 to Joe Swihart of Oroville to kill the attorney. They are held in county jail here.

Jerome Peters, counsel for Miss Simpson, said he would ask release of the three on bail today and stated he was prepared to furnish up to $100,000 bonds.

OBSERVES BIRTHDAY

Middle West Is Swept By Raging Flood

DETROIT, Feb. 7.—(UP)—More than 500 families were driven from their homes today as floods broke ice jams in rivers throughout Southern Michigan and sent torrents raging over lowlands.

A temperature jump to 58 degrees Sunday brought thunderstorms, rain and hail after two near-record cold waves.

Washed-out bridges, flooded lowlands and homeless families were reported from Holland on the west, north to the Thumb district and south to Detroit.

Evacuate Families

A huge ice jam blocked the mouth of the Clinton river near Mt. Clemens. Sheriff's deputies fought to evacuate still more families after a night in which hundreds were threatened.

"We're trying to dynamite the ice," said a deputy, "but haven't been able so far. The water is still rising."

He said the only serious damage so far was confined to livestock. Bulls were being used to take refugees from their homes. More than 75 families already had been evacuated.

Dam Collapses

Rising waters forced a score or

AUTO ACCIDENT VICTIM CALLED

Fourteenth victim of Orange county traffic since January 1, 1938, Frank Ashenfelter, 68, 1114 1-2 North Los Angeles street, Anaheim, died at Orange county hospital Saturday at 5 p. m. Last year at the same time, eight persons had died in traffic for the same period.

Coroner Earl Abbey announced an inquest will be held for Ashenfelter at Hilgenfeld funeral chapel, tomorrow at 10 a. m.

Inquest for Antonio Roa, 32, La Habra, killed when the truck he was driving, was struck by a Pacific Electric street car on Imperial highway, Friday, will be held today at the McAulay and Suters funeral chapel, Fullerton. No inquest will be held in connection with the traffic death Friday night on 101 highway near El Toro, of John R. Sticker, 26, Santa Ana, since officials report no one witnessed the accident.

14

Struck by Car

Stickler's car went out of control on the wet pavement and hit a eucalyptus tree.

Ashenfelter, crossing Los Angeles street near Lemon, not far from his home, was struck down by an automobile driven by Clarence L. Doctor. Thence apartments, Fullerton, police reported. Doctor said he had just passed the intersection of Los Angeles and Lemon streets and was driving around a truck in front of him when Ashenfelter stepped in front of his car. He suffered possible skull fracture, fractured arm, six broken ribs, back injury and internal injury.

MYSTERY SHROUDS DEATH OF MINISTER

FREDRICK, St. Simons Island, Ga., Feb. 7.—(UP)—Police doubted today that they would ever know who killed 75-year-old Charles H. Lee, a benign, white-haired preacher, who was shot through the temple while working in the peace of his personage, on his Sunday sermon.

The Rev. Lee was a member of the Lee of Virginia, and, therefore, a kinsman of Robert E. Lee. He was pastor of historic Christ Church here whose first pastor was John Wesley, founder of Methodism.

So far as police could determine, he had not an enemy in the world. He was killed by a pistol bullet fired through a window of his study. Two bullets broke the glass in one pane of the multi-paned window, a half hour apart. The first embedded itself in the wall. The second killed him.

QUESTION SUSPECTS AS PAIR FOUND DEAD

NEW YORK, Feb. 7.—(UP)—Approximately 50 persons were questioned by police today in efforts to solve the sash cord play of Mrs. Christina Oliveri, 24-year-old mother of two children, and Anthony Durante, 42, married and also the parent of two children.

Their bodies were found yesterday stuffed into the rear of a parked automobile and covered with a piece of green oil cloth. Both had been missing since Jan. 23. Both had been strangled. They had been dead a week or longer.

Durante's wife, Catherine, told police she had not reported him missing because he was often away from home for several days at a time. Their children are Joseph, 14, and Laura, 4.

LEGG ENTERS RACE

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Feb. 7.—(UP)—J. P. Rawlings, assistant campaign manager for Herbert C. Legg of Los Angeles, today asked Secretary of State Frank C. Jordan to reserve for him the title of "Legg for Governor Committee."

1000 Delegates, 1000 Speakers at Stormy Conference

Prolonged and stormy was the session when 1000 small business men and women went to Washington to formulate an economic program to present to President Roosevelt. They all had their own ideas about the program—and they all wanted to talk about them. Biggest job of conference leaders was to maintain order. Prominent at the slap-bang opening session were, left to right above, Ernest G. Draper, assistant secretary of commerce; Fred Roth of Cleveland, chairman of the conference; Secretary of Commerce Daniel C. Roper; and A. S. Shafer, Philadelphia contractor. Draper is pictured as he called for a rising vote which elected Roth. Roper is shown attempting to restore order during the election of the chairman. The photo on the right shows a Department of Commerce guard leading Shafer away from the speaker's platform when Shafer insisted on talking more than the five minutes allotted him. He later returned and delivered his 20-minute address to an empty hall.

MAN ACCUSED AFTER BATTLE

Charged with battery following an altercation at the home of his wife in San Bernardino Saturday night, Curtis Crouch, of 341 1/2 North Olive street, Orange, was scheduled to appear in San Bernardino justice court this afternoon.

A guest of Mrs. Crouch, Mrs. Anna Barkley, is said to have suffered a fractured skull when another visitor, a man named White, fell against her in the general melee. Crouch charges that White attacked him with an automobile crank. Mrs. Barkley was injured when Crouch knocked White down, White falling against Mrs. Barkley, according to reports.

Bail Set At $500

The altercation is said to have occurred when Crouch went to San Bernardino to visit his children. He is separated from his wife, it was reported.

Gordon K. Richmond of Orange is attorney for Crouch. Bail was set at $500, which Crouch posted with Judge Cal D. Lester.

COURT OF APPEALS UPHOLDS CONVICTION OF DR. TOWNSEND

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.—(UP)—The U. S. court of appeals today upheld the conviction of Dr. Francis E. Townsend, old age pension leader, on charges of contempt of a house committee investigating his activities.

Townsend is under sentence of 30 days in jail and a $100 fine. He was cited for contempt of the house on March 12, 1937, after he stalked angrily out of a committee hearing, investigating old age pensions.

Townsend suddenly interrupted the hearing, asserting he no longer would "tolerate inquisitorial methods" of members of the committee.

The circuit court decision written by Associate Justice Justin Miller, held that Dr. Townsend's act was deliberate and cited his statement to the committee saying:

HARVEY S. FIRESTONE, PIONEER TIRE MANUFACTURER, CALLED

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Feb. 7.—(UP)—Harvey S. Firestone Sr., tire manufacturer, died at his winter home here today. He was 70 years of age.

Firestone was found dead in bed, on rubber plantations in Africa which Firestone developed as the rubber industry grew.

His death leaves but one survivor of the great scientific and industrial triumphs that made economic history in America during the 20th century. Henry Ford, a close friend of Firestone and a member of that group, alone survives. Thomas A. Edison, the third member, preceded Firestone in death.

Firestone was one of the last survivors of the industrial giants who built vast industries in an expanding America, and maintained individual control of them after they developed into multimillion dollar concerns.

STEEL WORKERS TO CONSIDER CONTRACT

NEW YORK, Feb. 7.—(UP)—Leaders of the Steel Workers Organizing Committee, a C.I.O. affiliate, met in a preliminary session today to formulate their demands for renewal of the collective bargaining contract with "big steel."

The executive meeting was headed by Philip Murray, S.W.O.C. chairman, who negotiated the contract with "big steel" a year ago. That contract expires on Feb. 28, and the purpose of this morning's meeting was to determine what demands would be made or whether the present contract would be renewed and changed.

Reports persisted that agreement already had been reached at secret conferences at Pittsburgh and that the meeting between the union men and officials of United States Steel merely would be held for the purpose of ratification.

AL CAPONE SEEKS SENTENCE REVIEW

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.—(UP)—Al Capone, erstwhile Chicago gangster, today asked the Supreme Court to review validity of a one year jail sentence and $20,000 fine which he must fulfill on conclusion of the 11 year sentence he is now serving on income tax charges.

Indicted in June, 1931, on charges of violating federal income tax laws, Capone was convicted of failing to file returns and evading payment of income taxes from 1925 to 1929 inclusive.

He is now serving that sentence at Alcatraz prison.

In addition, Capone was sentenced to one year's imprisonment in the Cook county jail and a $20,000 fine on two counts of the indictment charging him with "wilful failure" to file tax returns in 1928 and 1929.

COURT DENIES PLEA IN NARCOTIC CASE

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.—(UP)—The Supreme Court today denied the petition of Edward Lee Dip, Sacramento, for a review of the ninth circuit court of appeals decision affirming his conviction on charges of violating the narcotic import act.

The petition was based primarily on the contention that evidence introduced at his trial was not sufficient to warrant the conviction.

The indictment under which he was convicted specifically charged him with concealing 45 grains of illegally-imported narcotics in Sept. 1936.

INVESTIGATION OF GIRL CASE DROPPED

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Feb. 7.—(UP)—The sheriff's office today dropped investigation of a complaint from Larry Crosby, brother of Bing Crosby, that a supposed talent agent was forcing girls to disrobe under the pretext of taking film tests.

Larry Crosby operated a theatrical agency and claimed the other man was using his name.

Capt. R. A. Cook of the sheriff's office interviewed the mothers of the girls and said the mothers refused to re-tell their stories to him, or to support a prosecution. He said the man named by Crosby denied the assertions.

Fay Wray Reveals Plan for Divorce

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Feb. 7.—(UP)—Fay Wray, film actress, and her husband, John A. Monk Saunders, writer, have separated because of incompatibility and there is no chance of reconciliation, the actress said today.

She said the question of divorce had not yet been discussed.

Miss Wray and Saunders were married almost 10 years ago. They have a 16-months-old daughter, Susan Carrie.

Saunders was located at his beach home at Malibu. He said his wife's announcement "of an intended divorce has come as a complete surprise to me."

SEEK TO LIMIT PAYROLL TAXES

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.—(UP)—Sen. Arthur H. Vandenberg, R. Mich., today introduced an amendment to the social security act to limit payroll taxes for old age benefits to one per cent on workers and employers until Congress decides whether to revise the law.

Explaining his amendments, Vandenberg said they would:

"1. Hold payroll taxes for old age-retirement benefits to one per cent on employers and employees—replacing the existing graduation up to a total of 6 per cent—until Congress reviews the whole subject at a time when there is adequate experience upon which to base a conclusive opinion. The effect would be to hold down the 47 billion dollar full reserve to an amount merely sufficient to retire a large portion of the national debt.

Federal Guarantee

"2. Requiring payroll taxes to go automatically into the old age reserve account and providing a federal guarantee for any deficit. This would partially cure the present inflexible practice of mingling these payroll collections with general treasury revenues that are spent for general purposes.

"3. Requiring that the old age pension reserves, insofar as possible, shall be used to retire existing federal indebtedness rather than as an excuse and shield for new bonds and bigger debts; and limiting the issuance of any new or special bonds, for this purpose, to a five-year maturity."

20,000 LICENSE PLATES ISSUED

Almost 20,000 automobile license plates for pleasure cars registered in Orange county were issued between January 3 and February 4, Capt. H. C. Meelan revealed today, while almost $122,000 was taken in as payment for the plates and the personal tax on pleasure cars.

The office at the city hall, where plates were issued during the licensing period, now is closed and those delinquent in obtaining plates and paying the personal tax on pleasure cars, may obtain the plates and pay the tax at the California highway patrol office, 3005 North Main street. Licenses for trucks and trailers also may be obtained at the patrol office. Records show 19,638 pleasure car plates were issued during the regular period and $121,975.72 was taken in.

HATFIELD RECOVERS FROM HEATER FUMES

FRESNO, Calif., Feb. 7.—(UP)—Lieutenant Gov. George J. Hatfield and two companions were treated at emergency hospital here last night after they were overcome partially by carbon monoxide fumes from a heater in the automobile in which they were riding.

Hatfield was traveling from Los Angeles to his ranch home near Newman with William Jasper, 40, Los Angeles advertising man, and John D. Howe, 61, of Upland, owner of one of the state's largest citrus groves.

Howe, the most seriously affected, remained overnight here while Hatfield and Jasper continued on to Newman.

Can Concern Is Sued for $18,066

The Quality Fruit company, of Fullerton, asked $18,066.79 damages today in a superior court suit brought against Continental Can company, alleging that 18,150 cans supplied the fruit company for canning lemon juice were defective.

The lacquer lining of the cans disintegrated and allowed the citric acid in the juice to attack the cans, rendering them unfit for use, the complaint stated.

JUST A MISTAKE

CHICAGO, Feb. 7.—(UP)—A police squad sped to an office building last night and pounced on Edmund Bucher, 22, as he headed for the jewelry shop where he is employed.

"What about this suicide?" Policeman Richard Dorsey asked. Edmund wrinkled a brow.

"Didn't you quarrel with your girl and tell her you were going to kill yourself?"

"Yeah, no," Edmund said. "She misunderstood. I told her I was going to wind up everything—but I meant watches."

Trio Shot In Attempt To Flee Prison

STATE PRISON, Florence, Ariz., Feb. 7.—(UP)—Three convicts, all on special night duty, tried to scale the 20-foot high wall of this penitentiary in a break for freedom today, but were frustrated by two guards and a collie dog.

Earl Williams, 36, Maricopa county burglar serving two to five years, succeeded in climbing the wall, but was shot twice in the knee by Guard Berle Graham as he fled across the faintly moon-lit desert toward three small houses about 100 yards from the prison.

Dog Makes Capture

As he cowered among the houses, a collie dog, owned by Yard Capt. P. B. Lopez, ran from one of the houses and, snapping viciously, held Williams until he could be taken by guards.

Rex Davis, 38, notorious Apache county "escape artist" serving seven to 10 years, and Willie Elms, 28, serving five to 10 years for burglary in Yuma county, fell from the wall to the yard floor under the hail of buckshot from the guns of Graham and Everett Todd, another guard. They ran to the dark shadows of the yard in an effort to escape identification.

Warden A. J. Barnes, who reported "a little unrest" among the other 700 prisoners today, said the convicts made "elaborate preparations" starting about 9 p. m. last night.

CLOSE WRIGHT CASE DEFENSE

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 7.—(UP)—The defense today closed its case in the trial of Paul A. Wright, aviation executive, for the murder of his wife, Evelyn, 28, and John Kimmel.

The prosecution prepared at once to present its rebuttal witnesses, chief of whom was expected to be Mrs. J. R. McBride, mother of the woman who was slain last Nov. 9, after Wright allegedly found her in an unnatural embrace with Kimmel.

A Burbank newspaper reporter and a cleaning establishment proprietor were the last defense witnesses.

MYSTERIOUS MISS X TESTIFIES IN COURT

LONDON, Feb. 7.—(UP)—"Miss X," operative of the British Intelligence service, appeared in court again today to testify against four men accused of espionage.

This time Miss X, a slim, bobbed haired blonde, had as a fellow witness a male operative of the intelligence service whose status was so secret that he did not even get an "X" to identify him. The prosecution called on him and declined to give his name or address.

Miss X testified briefly at Bow street police court regarding the alleged abstracting and photographing of secret plans from Woolwich arsenal by the four men held—P. E. Glading, Albert Williams, George Whomack and C. W. Munday, all former employees of the arsenal.

Haight To Enter Governor's Race

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 7.—(UP)—Raymond Haight was in the governorship race again today, this time as an independent fusion candidate.

The former state corporation commissioner polled more than 300,000 votes against Gov. Frank Merriam and Upton Sinclair, the Epic-Democrat in 1934. He ran then as a progressive.

Haight asked Republicans, Democrats and Progressives to rally to him to "restore governmental efficiency and break the ring of political corruption and racketeering which encircles it."

INVESTIGATE CRASH OF MYSTERY PLANE

WEST POINT, N. Y., Feb. 7.—(UP)—Coast guardsmen, police and volunteer workers sought today to solve the mystery of an airplane that plunged through fog into the ice clogged Hudson river Saturday night.

The Coast Guard Cutter Manhattan located the wreckage yesterday in about 50 feet of water off the northeast corner of the United States military academy reservation. Authorities said the plane could not be raised without the help of divers.

SNOW WHITE WINS BRITISH APPROVAL

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 7.—(UP)—Walt Disney professed to be happy today at news of the reception in England of his cartoon fairy tale, "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs." The British censor board decried it might frighten children. The board ruled children under 16 must be accompanied to the film by parents.

"We're really glad to hear it," announced Disney, "because it means that the British censors have classified the film as an adult movie and that will be good business."

"As for it frightening children, well, the picture is going to be held over a fifth week in the New York Radio City Music Hall, where the management estimates that 800,000 people, 45 per cent of them children, will have seen it. There hasn't been a single complaint from any parent about Snow White."

AS ROBBER TAKEN RAID PARTY

Eight card players in Anaheim lost $1620 in cash and jewelry to three bandits Saturday night and a Newport Beach service station lost $32 to two robbers last night, according to Anaheim and Newport Beach police departments.

The Anaheim trio entered Walt Rommel's cafe at 170 West Center street through a rear door, menacing the card players with their guns while robbing them of cash and jewelry. Ten men in the front room of the cafe were unaware of the robbery.

Feared Recognition

One of the Anaheim bandits kept his coat held around his face and left the room before the other two, apparently fearful of being recognized, police believe.

The boldest of the cafe robbers swung his gun on his finger as

ENGLAND WARS ON SUBMARINES

LONDON, Feb. 7.—(UP)—British warships have been ordered to attack any submerged submarine within the British patrol zone in the Mediterranean foreign Secretary Anthony Eden announced today in the house of commons.

Gen. Francisco Franco, insurgent leader, has informed Britain that he will not tolerate any submerged submarine in the British zone, Eden added.

Movements Secret

Shortly before Eden made his announcement it was revealed that war time conditions prevail in the patrol zone, and that the admiralty had decided to ban publication of the movements of any warships in the zone.

Eden told a questioner that his information is that the airplanes which raided Barcelona on Jan. 30, when more than 1000 civilians were killed or injured, were of Italian type.

MAYOR BOICE IS COURT WITNESS

Even though she called on Mayor A. C. Boice, of Orange, to aid her suit for $254.75 against her brother's estate, Mrs. Henrietta Dubraks, elderly Orange woman, today failed to impress Superior Judge H. G. Ames with the sufficiency of her claim, and he granted a non-suit of the case.

Mrs. Dubraks based her claim against the estate of the late Henry Diesel, of Orange, her brother, chiefly on her services as his housekeeper.

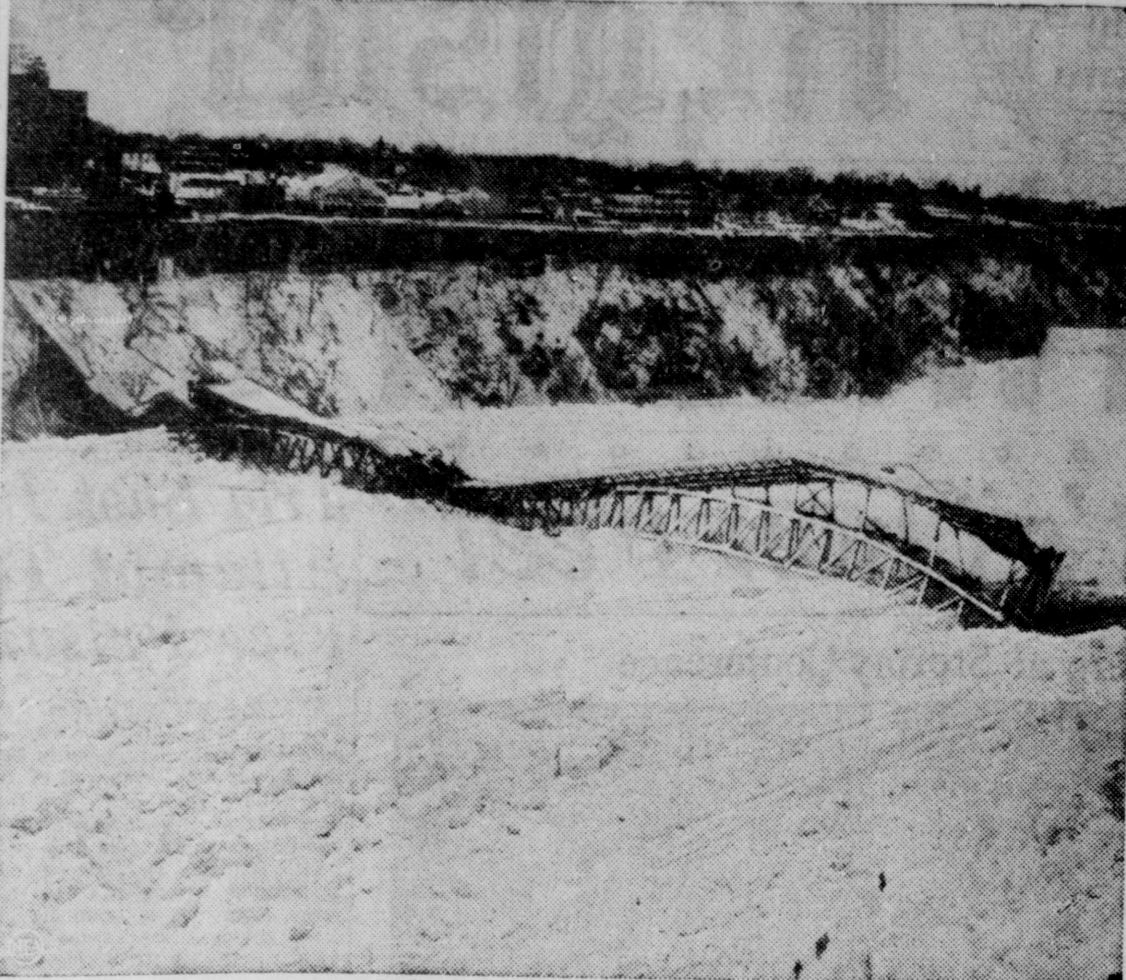

Mayor Boice, a neighbor of the brother and sister, testified regarding conversations with Henry Diesel five years ago when Diesel assertedly told him he could pay for a housekeeper and intended to obtain the services of his sister, Mrs. Dubraks.

Testimony by Support

The mayor's testimony was introduced by Mrs. Dubraks' attorney, Martell Thompson, presumably to offset the defense of the executor, Benjamin Diesel, that whatever the sister earned by keeping house for her brother was balanced by the support and living accommodations provided her. Benjamin Diesel, the executor, had rejected Mrs. Dubraks' claim against the estate, which included $2270 for housekeeping, at the rate of $30 per month from September, 1933, until the death of Diesel, April 4, 1937; also $178.75 for money advanced to her brother.

Attorney Gordon X. Richmond, attorney for the executor, brought out in his cross-examination of Mayor Boice that Mr. Dubraks was more than 70 years of age when she came to her brother's home.

Crushes Niagara's Honeymoon Bridge

With a roar that drowned out Niagara itself, famed "Honeymoon Bridge" tore loose from its moorings on two nations and collapsed into the gorge of the Niagara river, missing the three workmen who appear as tiny dots at lower right. Losing a 36-hour battle with an ice jam 90 feet high, the historic steel span moved downstream slowly, a twisted ruin riding a modern "glacier."

MRS. BERTHA ZINN GOES ON TRIAL BEFORE SUPERIOR COURT

Charged with grand theft of $235 from her employers, Mrs. Bertha Zinn, former stenographer for the Anaheim law firm, McFadden and Holden, went on trial today before a jury in Superior Judge James L. Allen's court.

Mrs. Zinn is accused of appropriating collections for the firm, and funds given her to deposit in banks, or transfer from one bank to another. The specific charge against her is dated December 27, last.

Jurors Examined

Attorneys Thomas McFadden and George Holden, as complaining witnesses, were seated with Deputy District Attorney Harold McCabe in the courtroom as the trial got under way today.

Attorney Ronald Cruickshank, appointed by the court to defend Mrs. Zinn, began the examination of prospective jurors by asking whether they had had banking or bookkeeping experience, and how they would regard evidence made up chiefly of bank records, from the Southern County Bank, of Anaheim. The first juror he examined was William A. Dolan, former Anaheim banker, now residing near Buena Park. Dolan said he wouldn't be prejudiced for or against bank bookkeeping records.

Completion of the jury was expected late today.

bakery, and Williams, his assistant, broke into the "underworld"—a basement where night workers sleep to avoid the daytime noise—and awakened Davis, a cook. The trio then broke into the prison mattress factory and made a 20-foot ladder from pine wood.

Then they entered the leather shop and made crude leather coats to protect themselves against the buckshot of the guards' guns. A pipe was bent for a hook to attach to the end of the ladder and hang it over the top of the wall.

Placed in "Solitary"

Elms and Davis were thrown immediately into the "snakes"—solitary confinement cells. Williams, after receiving emergency treatment for his two knee wounds, was placed in the prison infirmary.

Davis entered the prison last Dec. 30. He had escaped three times from the Navajo county jail at Holbrook, once knocking out a jailer. He once was chased to Idaho before he was captured.

Elms began serving his term Oct. 27, 1936; Williams Oct. 15, 1937.

MIDDLE WEST HIT BY RAGING FLOODS

nesses.

Emotionally Upset
Evelyn Locke, reporter for the Burbank Daily Reporter, testified Wright was "so emotionally upset" a few hours after he shot and killed his wife and Kimmel that he wept on Miss Locke's shoulder as she interviewed him in the Glendale jail.

"He was in a daze. He hardly seemed to comprehend what was going on. And he was so emotionally upset that when he tried to talk to me he put his head on my shoulder and cried," Miss Locke said under examination by Defense Attorney Jerry Geisler.

"He was not at all like the business man that I had frequently interviewed at the Burbank airport," she said.

Wright was president of the Union Air terminal and Kimmel was operations chief for United Airlines at the time of the shooting.

Cleaner Testifies

Claude Gilbert, proprietor of a Burbank cleaning establishment, told of cleaning clothes worn by Kimmel after the tragedy.

Mrs. Marlene Kimmel, the widow, gave Gilbert the suit to be cleaned on the morning of Nov. 10, he said. Under questioning by Geisler, Gilbert said he had examined the clothing when he returned to his shop and called Glendale police who picked up the suit the next day.

At the time he examined the clothing, there was only one button missing and that was off the vest, Gilbert said.

he was spokesman for the group. "If some of you want to die, just make a move," he said, "I'm a two time loser."

The spokesman gave a final warning. "You stay where you are for two minutes if you don't want me to bump you off," he said.

Proprietor Told

The bandits left by the rear door and the victims rushed to the front of the building to report to the proprietor, Walt Rommel, and the other patrons what had happened. No one reported hearing a car leave the alley.

The bandits got a stickpin set with a ruby and 13 diamonds valued at $500; a ring with three diamonds, $1000; ladies' gold watch, leather purse, hunting case, one wallet and two billfolds, the cash amounting to $120.

The victims were listed as Loren Faust, 323 North Pine; M. E. Cheatham, 426 South Illinois; Archie Henry, 314 South Helena; R. W. Edin, 203 North Lemon; D. M. Hoerner, 875 South Citron; D. L. Skinner, 211 West Charters; J. T. Gorman, general delivery, employee of the Betzold studio, all of Anaheim, and Andrew Long, of Bell.

Two bandits described as very nervous held up Cloyd Pearson, attendant of the Reed service station at 2920 West Central avenue in Newport Beach at 11:30 o'clock last night and escaped on foot, Pearson described the bandits as about 22 years old, well dressed and apparently amateurs.

According to the attendant, one of the bandits had difficulty in talking, apparently because of nervousness.

ALASKAN BEARS PLENTIFUL
SEWARD, Alaska (UP)—Andy Simons, Alaska guide and member of the Alaska Game Commission, said there will be fear for everybody next spring. He said large numbers of bear will come out of hibernation in the spring and hunters who take advantage of the spring hunts in Alaska will return to the states with select trophies to their credit.

MALT SHOP MAN FILES APPEAL

Charles B. Frank, former operator of a malt shop at Los Angeles and North streets, Anaheim, as before Superior Judge G. K. Scovel today with his appeal from a $50 judgment awarded to Mrs. Charlotte Newness of Placentia, for money she paid him on the purchase of the malt shop.

Mrs. Newness and Mrs. Zoe Stephens, operator of a barbecue stand on 101 highway between Anaheim and Fullerton, had purchased the malt shop for a price of $400, on which Mrs. Newness made the down payment of $50. She claimed she had not inspected the place in advance, Frank asking her not to go near it, because of tenants to whom he had rented the place.

Statements Denied
When the new owners finally took possession, they claimed there was very little equipment belonging to the place, most of it being owned by dealers and vendors.

Mrs. Newness sued for recovery of her $50 and was awarded judgment in Anaheim small claims court. Frank denied such statements today in superior court, when called as a witness by Attorney Harry Warton, representing Mrs. Newness.

As the appeal came up for hearing today, Attorney Leo Friis, representing Frank, moved to dismiss the case, on the ground that the plaintiff's sureties had not been justified. This, it was agreed, should have been done in Anaheim court, where both attorneys reported that the Anaheim court had already forwarded files of the case to superior court and refused to handle any further proceedings connected with it.

Judge Scovel declined to dismiss the appeal, and advised that if the Anaheim court refused to justify the sureties, the remedy open was to petition superior court for a writ of mandate, compelling the lower court to act.

HULL IN DEFENSE OF FOREIGN POLICY

Hull said that if the world "shuts its eyes to recent disastrous developments" it would be an open invitation for recurrence of the events of 1914 and 1929.

Hull abhorred the recent "alarming disintegration" of international relationships, and said that the race to arm on only result in further impoverishment of all nations.

He added: "While compelled, in a world in which increased construction of armaments is a regrettable fact, to render adequate our military and naval establishment, we are ready at any time to join with other nations in a common effort to bring about a general limitation and reduction of armaments."

He said that the United States, by pursuing its policy of reciprocal trade agreements, is contributing its fair share of leadership in a movement "which may have a decisive influence upon the whole future of civilization—a movement away from the gathering fury of international strife and toward general appeasement which is indispensable to the well-being and progress of all nations."

Man Hit by Auto Sues for $11,600

Demanding $11,600 damages for injuries received when struck by an automobile, Carl Brennecke today had filed suit in superior court against Ira D. Armstrong. Brennecke charges that an automobile driven by Armstrong struck him last Aug. 8 as he was walking across South Main street at Walnut street. After the car struck him, Brennecke alleges, it dragged him 50 feet severing a muscle in his right arm and inflicting other injuries.

We, The People

By JAY FRANKLIN

WASHINGTON, D. C. — The man who came nearest to voicing the national reaction to the President's naval program was Maury Maverick of Texas. Mr. Maverick said that he wanted to know whether the policy behind the proposed navy was collective security, defense of the Western Hemisphere or isolation. It is doubtful that Maverick will get an answer, though a debate on foreign policy in the Senate might develop our national strikes up "Anchors Aweigh."

For Mr. Roosevelt has the extremely difficult problem of combining three separate concepts of the national defense in such a way as to avoid each of their weaknesses and to reinforce their strength. The policy of isolation and domestic reform is weak in that, of itself, it offers no guarantee against foreign aggression or against popular explosions directed by American public opinion against foreign nations.

The "realistic" Welles-Roosevelt policy of defense of the Western Hemisphere lacks drama and is historically tainted with American

"imperialism." The internationalists, with their program for "collective security," run counter to the desire of the American people to avoid "entangling alliances."

It can be frankly admitted that our policy of national defense is at all times a compromise between what we would like to do and what is prudent for us to try to do. We would all like to feel free to concentrate our attention and energies on the absorbing task of domestic reform. We felt that way in 1914-1917, but Woodrow Wilson dared not neglect the larger considerations of national safety and so put reform into the fatal moth-balls from which it did not emerge for a generation.

That is why conservatives, in time of social unrest, tend to exaggerate foreign problems and even to hunch for a war, in the belief that the martial spirit can set aside unwelcome or painful measures of domestic change. Mr. Roosevelt shares the liberal belief, in the necessity for reform, both as an end in itself and as a means of defense for democratic institutions. Rather than set aside his reform program in the name of national safety, he proposes to push it through as far and as fast as possible.

He inclines to the Pan-American policy of mutual defense of the Western Hemisphere against Old World power-politics and is disposed to build up a navy strong enough to keep this continent, the eastern Pacific, and the Panama Canal and the Caribbean area safe for democracy. This should be adequate as defense against any one power or group of European powers which does not include Great Britain. This should be adequate to protect the Alutian-Pearl Harbor-Panama "triangle" against Japan. This assures our access to the tropical raw materials of the West Indies, Central America and northern South America.

But, being unable to foresee all contingencies, the President cannot rule out the possibility of our being faced with a well-armed and aggressive European-Asiatic coalition sufficiently powerful to put the British Empire on the defensive and neutralize France. Here he cannot prudently, in advance, rule out the possibility of our taking part in a coalition to resist attack. The strategic purpose of such a coalition would be to defend our "sphere of influence" in the Western Hemisphere. Its political purpose would be to defend our program of national reform and prosperity against violent interference from overseas.

The Payoff

BY HARRY GRAYSON
(Sports Editor, NEA Service)

NEW YORK—Wiffy Cox credits Sam Snead for Jimmy Thomson's tremendous improvement as a score player.

Cox contends that all Thomson required were spurs and that he got the urge when Snead suddenly challenged his reputation as a long hitter.

"I noticed the change," explained the veteran professional. "Jim spoke often of Sam. He started to work, was serious, and took more interest. Sam aroused the fighting spirit which was lacking in Jim."

"Thomson used to carry the speedy wrist and hand action of his wood shots into his approaches without being conscious of the fact. He always was very loose on his irons. He flickered them up . . . got too much wrist into the shot."

"Then, coming down the stretch on the last lap of a big championship, when he had critical iron shots to make, he changed his swing. He tried to be more compact, but since this wasn't in line with his daily practice methods, he merely tightened and began steering his shots . . . a fatal error."

"Now he has corrected this by making his left arm work as a brake. It comes through to delay rubbery wrist action. His left wrist formerly broke through too quickly. He is now hitting down and through the ball instead of flicking it."

As Cox explains, this makes for consistent hitting, which was all Thomson needed, together with a bit of get-up-and-go.

Jimmy Thomson always had the shots. Now he's hitting them together to win big purses in place of faltering in the stretch.

RANGERS BEST-BALANCED
Hockey is as uncertain as most other games, yet at this early date Lester Patrick believes that his New York Rangers will finish first in the American division of the National League and go on to take the Stanley Cup.

The Rangers have a happy combination of youth and experience, and not another manager in the loop can say that he is not top-heavy on either side.

Patrick reveals that the Montreal Maroons had an idea that they were peddling him a season when he purchased Dixie Kerr, who has been outstanding in the nets.

Behind the Rangers, Patrick ranks Boston of the American group and Toronto of the International neck and neck. He also gives the Montreal Canadiens and the New York Americans of the International a chance.

But most of the Rangers have chances in their contracts concerning bonuses, if they finish on top. A new ruling in regard to the division of the playoff swag makes first place much more desirable than second.

And the Rangers always have been a first-class money club.

PENN TO USE SPINNERS
With Rae Crowther installed as George Munger's line coach, Pennsylvania next fall no doubt will adopt Harvard's sequenced offense, which is based on a cycle of spinners with every play started exactly alike.

Crowther, heavier now, was a slim end for Colgate in 1922, '23, and '24, when Dick Harlow led forth at Hamilton's place.

Under the Harlow scheme, Penn linemen will mouse-trap, double-team, and cross-check the tackle.

"Defense linemen won't be able to get set for any one style," says Ray Davidson, retiring Army coach. "If they charge, they will be dead-trapped. If they stand still, they will be ganged. If they slide, they will be caught over-shifted."

Many schooled observers believe that the Harlow plan, making the most of deception, has outmoded the Warner attack, which leans so heavily on power ahead of the ball.

Topnotch material is required to make the Warner stuff go.

BRITAIN TO QUIT WINTER OLYMPICS

LONDON—(UP)—Great Britain was reported to be considering today the withdrawal of its ski team from the 1940 Winter Olympics in Japan.

The decision was expected to be conveyed to other competing nations within the next fortnight. The London Daily Mail said the news will be conveyed by Arnold Lunn, "father of British skiing" at the international ski conference at Lahiti Finland, where 25 nations will be represented.

The Ski Club Britain, governing body of the sport in this country, is said to be irate over the movement to bar ski teachers from competing in the Olympics. Japan, backed by Germany and Italy, will demand that teachers be excluded from competing in the 1940 games at the Lahiti meeting.

VIRGINIA TOPPLES SANTA ANA GOLFERS

Golfers of the Santa Ana Country club hope to get revenge on their own course next Sunday for the terrific lacing, 241-2 points to 51-2, they took in an inter-team match at the Virginia Country club at Long Beach yesterday.

Minus four regulars, the Santa Anas had tough going on the Long Beach layout, heavy from mid-week rains. Only Jack Robertson played up to snuff. The former club champion shot a 73, one over par for the Virginia links.

Trojans Face Indians Friday and Saturday

SAN FRANCISCO—(UP)—California, Oregon, and College of Pacific stood alone at the top of three of the Far West's intercollegiate basketball conferences while St. Mary's and Santa Clara, traditional rivals, shared the leadership in a fourth today.

California headed the Southern division of the Pacific Coast conference with a record of five wins and one defeat.

Stanford has won four out of six games. In third place in his group was U. S. C., with a record of three wins and three setbacks. U. C. L. A. was last with six defeats. Hank Luisetti of Stanford led in individual scoring with 131 points, 62 more than Ralph Vaughn, U.S.C., the runner-up.

Cards Coming South
In this week's play Stanford and S. C. meet in Los Angeles Friday and Saturday, while California takes on U. C. L. A. at Berkeley the same nights.

In the Northern division, Oregon held a one-game lead over Washington State while Washington, former runner-up, dropped to third place.

In the Far Western conference College of Pacific, which failed to win a game in the Northern California conference, topped the five teams with two victories, scored over Chico last week-end. Nevada was second with three wins and one defeat after splitting a series with Fresno State. The Fresnoans were third with one win and one setback. Chico, the 1937 champion, was fourth with two wins and four setbacks, and the Cal Allies last with two defeats.

Gaelic, Broncos Tied
In the Northern California conference, St. Mary's and Santa Clara had records of five wins and one defeat. San Jose was third, U. S. C. fourth, and Pacific, which has finished its campaign last.

Results of Saturday night games included: U.S.C. 39, L.A.A.C. 33; California 40, St. Mary's 27; Stanford 51, U.S.F. 30; Washington State 58, Gonzaga 19; Washington 27, Oregon 25; Nevada 42, Fresno State 37; Idaho 48, Montana 34; Hollywood A. C. 40, Loyola 28.

REVOLTA TOPS GOLF WINNERS

SACRAMENTO—(UP)—Johnny Revolta, Evanston, Ill., veteran of the winter golfing wars, today topped the money-winners of the current season by reason of his victory in the $3000 Sacramento Open.

He cashed top money of $750 yesterday by sticking within two strokes of par for three rainy days. He scored 72-73-73-72-290. The check brought his winnings to $3500 for the season.

Vic Chezzi, of Deal, N. J., took second money of $450 with his 291, and Ben Hogan, Fort Worth, Tex., was third with 292, which earned him $350.

Hard luck honors—and a tie for fourth—went to Johnny Bulla, a little-known 24-year-old driving range professional from Chicago, who went three strokes ahead of the field at noon with a blazing 68, then carded a 78 in the afternoon to total a 233. Tied with him were Horton Smith, of Chicago, and Earl Fry, Alameda. They received $170 each.

The winter golf and gold trail led to San Francisco this week for the $5000 San Francisco Open match play tournament. The field will qualify at medal play Thursday and Friday and the best 16 will go into the hole-by-hole matches Saturday and Sunday.

Lawson Little, defending champion in the San Francisco, will be an entry. He did not play in the Sacramento tournament.

If it were not for the freckles, Eddie Litzberger wouldn't weigh much more than a feather pillow, which is quite a bulge when you are riding horses. Currently at Santa Anita Park, Litzberger is one of the turf's outstanding jockeys.

Medwicks On Scene, Anyway

Pretty Mrs. Joe Medwick agrees with her husband that the St. Louis Cardinals are not paying him enough. The Medwicks are enjoying sun and golf bathing at St. Petersburg, Fla., their winter home, where the contract fight will be carried on and where the Red Birds will train. Medwick led the National league in practically everything last season.

Awake, good rivals! Come 'why snooze. Why lag so far behind—Why mire in vain despairing blues At Hawkeye's master-mind.

"My mighty handicapping prowess over-awes my worthy rivals into a comatose state," chuckled the head maestro of the turf. "They know what they are up against," he concluded modestly.

A check-up disclosed that this was indeed so, most infamously, and conceded by even his most bitter rivals. Hawkeye fans point proudly to his long and lustrous record as leading handicapper, bar none, and to the fact that Hawkeye horses always win. Needless to say, his astute play for Saturday, Sortie's Sun, won just like he said he would, although his astute play for Friday, Wild Turkey, lost through an error in timing. Total profit, twenty cents, a tidy tidbit, indeed.

The astute play for tomorrow: Two coconuts straight on Boulder in fourth.

DONS FACE POMONA, THEN TROJAN FROSH

While Fullerton and Chaffey junior colleges continue to set the pace in the Eastern conference basketball race with three wins and no defeats, Santa Ana's don'ts were preparing today for a busy week of basketball here and in Los Angeles.

The Dons meet the Pomona Jaycees Red Raiders on the Tustin high school hardwood Thursday night and the following night travel to Los Angeles to play a preliminary game to the Trojans-Stanford contest at the Pan-Pacific auditorium. Their opponents will be the U.S.C. Frosh, undefeated in their last 60 games.

The Pomona game looms as a crucial one for the Dons. Last Saturday night the Riverside Bengals were hard pressed to defeat Pomona 46-40. Standings:

SCOUTS EYE YOUNG FULLERTON PITCHER

FULLERTON—Eaton DeVolder, junior college southpaw, turned in a four-inning mound performance here yesterday when the Fullerton Firemen defeated the Weber Bread company, 6 to 2, in a Southern California Inter-city league game.

Harry (Truck) Hannah, Ernie Johnson, Johnny Angell and James Bouldin, baseball ivory hunters, were on hand to watch the Bowling Green, O., kid strike out 12 of the Bakers' sluggers.

FULLERTON JAYCEE NOSES OUT INDIANS

FULLERTON—Fullerton's Yellowjackets turned back San Bernardino's Indians, 30 to 27, to retain an unblemished Eastern junior college conference basketball record Saturday night.

Andy Echle, lanky center, paced the winners with 35 points, while Tom Keesey contributed 12. Earl Allison, Fullerton's ace guard, bottled up Chet Katka who was allowed but three points before Allison, Fullerton's ace guard, Katka made seven points altogether.

Fullerton will play Pasadena to-night and will go to Ontario Wednesday for a "championship" encounter with Chaffey.

DON TRACKMEN OPEN TRAINING

Track and field candidates at Santa Ana Junior college, headed by the returning "prideful son," Captain Bias Mercurio and a number of promising stars which include Bill Huntley, Southland prep 100 yard champion, officially open the 1938 cinderpath season this afternoon when they answer the call of Coach Bill Cook for daily workouts.

Numerous Don track aspirants have been working out informally for several weeks, but today was the first under Cook's supervision. Sweatsuits and other track equipment were issued by Sam Palmer at the high school gym.

Prospects for a better team than last season seem good at this writing.

While the Dons are not exactly nursing championship hopes, with Fullerton Junior college and Riverside Jaycee already laying claim to the honors, they can not be counted out of the reckoning altogether.

Thunder Birds Bag 'Y' League Crown

With the Pioneer and High School leagues ending their first round of play last Saturday, the Friendly Indians completed their season at the Y.M.C.A. with the Thunder Birds established as champions. The Thunder Birds were undefeated, having defeated in order the Mohawks, Iro-Cherokees, Tustin Mohawks and Hopi Tribes.

On March 4, the Friendly Indians clubs will meet at 7 p.m. in an Indian pow-wow, with awards being presented members of the winning Thunder Birds. Jack Pickering, Terry Ragan, Jimmy Davies.

Hail Ben Johnson As Fastest Human

NEW YORK—(UP)—Diminutive Ben Johnson, Columbia's Negro sprint star, was called the world's fastest human today following his record breaking performances in the Millrose Games.

Before a capacity crowd of 17,000 in Madison Square Garden Saturday night, Johnson twice smashed the accepted indoor figures in the 60-yard dash.

In his preliminary heat Johnson was clocked in 6.2 seconds, equaling the world mark held by such speed merchants as Jesse Owens, Loren Murchison, Jack Elder, Eulace Peacock and others. On his next trip, in the semi-final heat, he lowered that by a tenth, and in the final he broke the tape in the six seconds flat.

Forrest (Spec) Towns of Georgia, and Allan Tolmich of Wayne, broke the 60 yard record for covering 60 yards and topping five hurdles. Tolmich was timed in 6.74 in his preliminary heat, but failed to repeat it in the finals when Towns matched that mark to win the event by a yard.

Accuracy of the clocking of the interscholastic mile-relay was questioned in some circles when the schoolboy foursome from De La Salle Institute was timed in 3:23.2 breaking all previous Millrose records. This was four-tenths of a second better than the Millrose record set by Pennsylvania. John Quigley, Loy Collado, George Tucknott and Eddie Roger formed the De La Salle team.

The third world record to be eclipsed was the 1-7 mile college relay when the North Texas state twins—Wayne and Blaine Rideout and Delmar and Elmer Brown—won the event in 7:27.5, shaving more than two seconds off the mark of 7:29.5 set by New York university in 1932.

The perennial Kansan, Glenn Cunningham, won the Wanamaker Mile as expected, beating his fellow Kansan, Archie San Romani,

'NOTHING TO SAY' DIZZY'S ONLY REMARK

BY HENRY McLEMORE
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla.—To the hills, men! And there isn't a second to spare!

Don't pause to aid the laggards or you'll be too late. The revolution is at hand. Today—in a five word utterance—I heard the death sentence on the established order of things, and any moment now you may expect the leopard to start changing his spots, two and two just making four, and birds of a feather stop flocking together.

"Dizzy" Dean was the man who uttered the five words. He uttered them to me, and they were this: "I have nothing to say!"

He Meant It
And he didn't. He meant it. I argued with him the best I could, pointing out the seriousness of such a statement from him. I told him his constant bellying was just as much a part of this nation as the constitution, Betsey Ross, and states' rights. And that if he kept silent—if only for a day—the citizens would become panicky and anything might happen. But he would not yield.

Even when I brought up the subject of "Dizzy" Dean, his favorite topic of conversation, he refused to say a word.

When this climactic effort failed I knew it was no use arguing, so I fell to studying "Dizzy" hoping to determine the cause for this drastic change in personality. Naturally, with "Dizzy" refusing to say anything my study had to be confined to outward appearances.

In the face, "Dizzy" still is the "Dizzy" of several years ago when he was fresh out of Texas and funds. His beauty then was of what I believe is catalogued as the "honest, pioneer and rugged" type. It still is. His head is a bit larger than when he was chunking for Houston, but would still be described as a "fast ball pitcher" shape. And as for his physique, he remains only a leopard skin away from Tarn.

Clothes Change Personality
Perhaps "Dizzy's" clothes have changed his personality. There was a time when no one would have had any difficulty distinguishing between him and Anthony Eden, but today Diz could spot the dapper British foreign minister a pair of spats and lick him 2 to 1 and 3 to 1 in a sartorial double-header. When I saw him he was wearing a sports outfit that left nothing to be desired, unless it was a color movie camera in the hands of the on-looker. He was, to use the delightful phrase coined by Captain Molyneux, "a sight for sore eyes."

Whatever the cause, "Dizzy" has undergone a tremendous change. Only recently he was made an honorary member of the Daytona Beach Women's Golf association, an honor which he accepted with a speech that blended perfectly with the pastel tinted walls of the clubhouse in which he stood.

To date he hasn't said a bitter word against the Cardinals, Branch Rickey, or Sam Breadon.

Leonard Apostoli's Model
Fred Apostoli is being called another Stanley Ketchel, but the uncrowned 160-pound champion much prefers to model himself after Benny Leonard or Gene Tunney.

"Leonard was a smooth, well-oiled machine," explains Apostoli, "yet was sufficiently inspired not to appear machine-like. In other words, he could entertain as well as fight."

"Tunney was very much the same except that he was a little too methodical . . . not as exciting to watch as Leonard."

"Ketchel undoubtedly was one of the greatest fighters of all time, but he isn't my ideal."

Apostoli would like to hit as hard as did Ketchel, but he also would like to get away from more punches than did the Michigan Assassin.

The San Francisco lad was a corking middleweight in stopping Freddie Steele.

N. Y. Schoolboy Seen As 'Greatest Miler'

BY JERRY BRONDFIELD
(NEA Service Sports Writer)

NEW YORK—Word is being passed by track-wise experts that space aboard the Tokio-bound Olympic packet in 1940 is being reserved for young Leslie MacMittell, currently running the mile for New York's Washington high school.

MacMittell holds the world's scholastic indoor record of 4:23.6 for the mile, which is better time than that turned in by a lot of collegiate milers.

He is only 16 years old, but is unusually developed for a boy of his age. He has a deep chest and powerful legs. His stamina is amazing, but he tops everything off with an even more brilliant sprint.

Glenn Cunningham says that MacMittell might easily become the greatest miler in the country by 1940. Glenn, himself, ran a 4:21 mile outdoors when in high school.

MacMittell works out daily with the New York University team under the watchful eye of Emil von Eiling, the Violet coach, who shares the same opinion as Cunningham.

"MacMittell is one of the greatest mile prospects I've ever seen," asserts von Eiling. "He's been handled wisely and should not be burned out before he reaches his full growth."

The youngster will enter N. Y. U. when he finishes his scholastic career.

Another high school youth who seems destined for success is Les Steers of Palo Alto, Calif., whose leap of 6 feet 5.24 inches was good enough to capture his event at the Prout Memorial Games in Boston. He out-jumped no less a personage than the world's record holder himself, Mel Walker of Ohio State.

Sir Raleigh looks like the best 3-year-old at Santa Anita—the boldest threat shown to date for the $50,000 Derby Feb. 22. Though defeated Saturday by Sun Egret and Legal Light in the $5000 San Vincente Handicap, Sir Raleigh looked more impressive in defeat than Sun Egret did in victory.

Thirty-five thousand racegoers who stormed the "tote" for the second million-dollar day of the season, roared their acclaim as Sir Raleigh came from far back at the top turn to charge down on his face, and although half-a-length short of victory at the finish, he would have nailed them in a few more jumps.

Racing over a slow track that was against him, the Millsdale stable's colt couldn't get going in the early part of the seven-furlong test, while Short Notice was out in front winging, with Sun Egret, Legal Light and Specify all within striking distance.

Ninth as the field curved around the lower turn, 10 lengths off the lead, Sir Raleigh started his drive as the tempo of the race quickened and action accelerated. Short Notice began to weaken, Specify moved into command turning for home, only to be displaced by Sun Egret and Legal Light mid-way down the stretch. But seven-furlongs was too short for Sir Raleigh, and though he closed fastest of all, two necks were in front of him at the finish. Had the race been a few jumps further, he would have been the winner. The Derby is at one mile and one-eighth.

Sun Egret, however, ran a smashing race, and in winning, achieved his third consecutive stakes victory, a record that has not been matched in four seasons at Santa Anita. The stocky, deep-chested little flyer from the stable of A. C. Compton, was coupled with Ral Parr's Legal Light as an entry and the pair was favored in the betting, paying $6.80 straight.

Sun Egret handled the top weight of 125 pounds and was ridden by Jockey Al Shelhamer. There was some discussion after the race as to whether his stablemate, Legal Light, could have beaten him. They were both driving, both doing their best at the end.

Can't wait, a sensational 2-year-old last year, was making his second outing of the season in the race, but failed to show anything at all, and unless he suddenly improves, his Derby chances are blasted.

The wagering was $1,027,087.

One of the most impressive trials yet recorded for the Santa Anita Handicap was uncorked between races Saturday by the Argentine invader, Ligaroti, owned by Lyn

ARIZONA REGENTS EYE COOK

State Senator Harry Westover of Santa Ana believes Bill Cook stands an A-1 chance of succeeding "Tex" Oliver as football coach of the University of Arizona.

He thinks so for two reasons. In the first place, he considers the Santa Ana Jaycee man an outstanding coach and eminently worthy of handling a bigger job. Secondly, he is in receipt of a significant letter from his brother, William Westover, who lives in Tucson and is a member of the University of Arizona's board of regents.

Brother Bill wrote Brother Harry for information about Coach Cook; the Santa Ana Westover considers this indicative that the regents (who'll have a lot to say about Oliver's successor) are interested in the Santa Ana candidate.

"My personal opinion is that Bill Cook will get the job," says Senator Westover. "I believe he has the inside track." Westover today dispatched a letter of recommendation to his regent-brother. This document is too lengthy to use in full but excerpts follow:

"Bill came into my office late yesterday and I went over the matter thoroughly with him. He graduated from U.S.C. in 1927. Prior to his graduation he played under Coach Howard Jones and at one time was a scout for U.S.C. His only coaching job has been at Santa Ana, which has been more than successful during the past 10 years. Since he has been in Santa Ana he has had four Southern California championships and tied once for the championship. During the last two years, his teams have been undefeated and he has won 22 straight games.

"Bill has a B.S. in physical education, and has had charge of track as well as football. He is getting, at the present time, from the local board of education $2650, but says that money will not stand in his way, as he feels that the advancement is very desirable. He understood that Tex Oliver was getting $4500.

"Bill Cook has been as successful in Santa Ana as Tex Oliver was when he was here in charge of the high school. Bill took the junior college team from nowhere and made it the leading football attraction in Southern California among junior college players.

"He is well liked by the players, the faculty, the board of education and the town people. I was talking to a member of the board the other day and he told me that they were not going to let Bill go, as they were going to give him a substantial increase in salary. However, the increase will not keep him here, if he can get the job in Arizona.

"I feel that Cook is a desirable man to take Oliver's place. It is just too bad that Tex had to leave

FELLER DENIES ROW OVER CONTRACT

YOUTH READY TO SIGN: WILL REPORT FEB. 27

BY TOM BRIGHT

(United Press Staff Correspondent) VAN METER, Ia.—Bob Feller, the 19-year-old pride of Van Meter, was showered with such eulogies as "the wonder boy of baseball" before injuries blighted his season last year, sloughed in the only barber chair in Fritz's barber shop and laundry agency, while Fritz himself applied the shears.

Through the gentle drift of snipped hair came Feller's answers to questions. Fellow-townsmen listened attentively to the young man who put Van Meter on the map when he started smoking his fireball over the plate for the Cleveland Indians.

"It's all fixed up," Bob said. "I expect I'll sign next month when I go to New Orleans for spring training."

He refused to confirm reports that he had been offered a $17,000 flat guarantee. Last year Feller was reported to have received $15,000.

"We're going to make a little family trip out of it when I have to report for practice," the strapping youngster said. "Mother and Dad and Marguerite—she's my 9-year-old sister—will drive down with me and they'll stay around a few days."

Feller will report Feb. 27. He said basketball, farm chores and hunting had kept him in good shape.

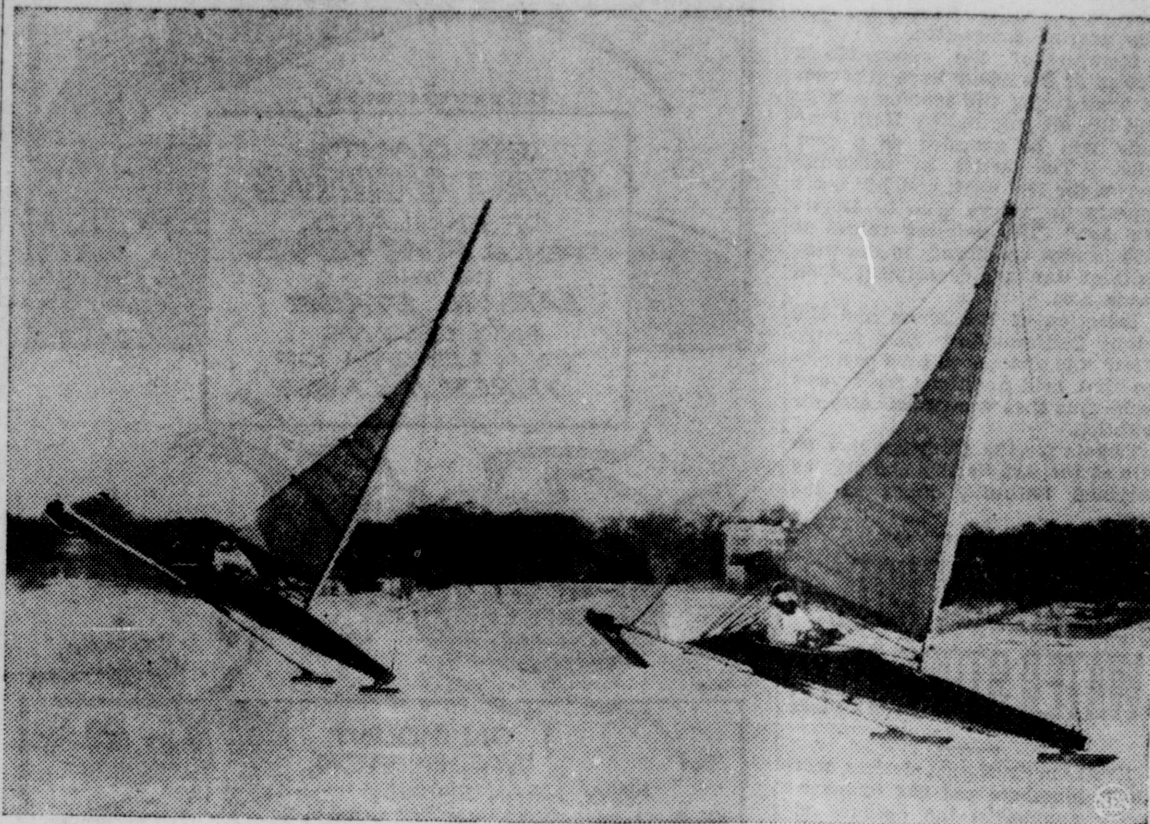

"They told me not to do any throwing and I haven't, but it's been pretty hard not to. Seems funny for Dad and I not to play catch. That's the way I got started, you know," he said.

Bob refused to discuss 133 hopes in light of his record last season of 9 victories and 7 defeats. He participated in 26 games, striking out 150 batters and marking up an earned run average of 3.38.

"It's too early to climb out on a limb," he said.

but I am rather satisfied in my own mind, that Bill will be able to carry on. Bill Cook plays an open game. He plays a game that spectators like to watch and his system probably has more in accord with the system used by you can get. In other words, Bill can start in with the game that Tex left, without changing to any great extent, he fundamental system. This, in my mind, is very desirable as there would be several years of poor results if the coaching system were radically changed."

Don Campbell of Delavan, Wis., guiding Fire Trap, bagged the 10-mile free-for-all.

Ty Gone But Georgia Cannons Still Rumble

BY HARRY GRAYSON
(Sports Editor, NEA Service)

Ty Cobb is gone, but Georgia's paths. The hustling chap from baseball cannon rumble on. Vidalia batted .320 in 1937, and his 25 home runs make him a threat in that department, too.

While none approach the Georgia Peach, the Cracker state will have five strong candidates for major league batting titles this year—Johnny Mize, Cecil Travis, Wally Moses, Luke Appling and Rudy York.

And Georgia would be likely to smack with authority for some seasons to come, for all save Appling are comparative fledglings.

Mize, Demorest's large donation to the Cardinals, improved under the pressure of having to make good when "Ripper" Collins was sold to the Cubs. He is the most formidable challenger of his champion teammate Joe Medwick, whom he trailed like a faithful hound in 1937. He hit .364, and in compiling 81 home runs, socked one in every park in the National league.

Finally settled at shortstop, Travis of the Nationals should improve his average of .344.

Wally Moses of the Athletics is likely to go into a hot streak at any time and accomplish most anything. Moses has unlimited possibilities at the plate and on has made the situation so much simpler. Its rules provide that scholarships may be awarded athletes in the same manner that they are awarded to other students by the regular scholarship committees. Scholarships provide for matriculation fees, books, and room and board.

There is no fixed limit to the number of scholarships to be awarded athletes. And no hypocrisy.

Sammy Laporte, Flint bantamweight, is suspended by the Maryland Boxing Commission and his purse is held up because he suddenly refused to continue a fight with Lawrence Gunn in Baltimore. Perhaps Laporte knew when both he and the customers had enough.

There's many a night when fighters show the utter lack of that much sense.

For Love of Polly

By RACHEL MACK

Copyright, 1938, NEA Service, Inc.

CAST OF CHARACTERS
POLLY CHELSEY, heroine; stranded in London when war breaks out.
JERRY WHITEFIELD, hero; the Yankee who sees her through.
GABRIEL BANKS, privateer captain.

Yesterday: Appointing himself Polly's protector in London, Jerry asks her to marry him. He is already much in love.

CHAPTER V
"ARE you making a joke, Jerry?" Polly asked in an uncertain voice. "People don't talk of marrying when they've just met."

Jerry held her hands and looked down into her face. "Look at me, Polly! Do I look like a man that's joking? I figure there are troubles ahead of us. Dangers, even. We can face them better as man and wife."

The girl looked up at the bronzed young seaman and answered honestly. "My heart's going like a loud ticking clock, Jerry."

Polly went and sat down sedately. "There's something about English marriage laws you've yet to learn, Jerry. There must be a publishing of the banns in a church for three Sundays before the wedding day. Then, if any soul objects, the marriage can be stopped. My mother was Mary Dart, a London girl. She fell in love with her cousin when she met him here in her cousin's counting-house. It was his first voyage over as captain of his own brig, the Proud Lyme. He courted her whirlwind fashion and she accepted him, but the Darts were wild. My father's sister, my Aunt Kate Chelsey, had come over with him to see London. So it was that my mother went back to America with them and was married in Connecticut, simple fashion. That way, they got around the banns and outwitted the Darts."

Jerry said impatiently, "Banns! So the crazy English have us in another tangle, have they?"

HE walked back and forth across the room while his anger seethed. He was not one to take defeat meekly. It was a while before he could say in a natural voice, "Very well, Polly. Of course we can't wait for banns to be published. If I must abide by English laws, I must. I'll be merely your cousin and stop courting you till I can do it with honor. Good night, Polly. I'll see you tomorrow after I've planned a way to get us to France."

"Well, now!" Polly exclaimed, somewhat taken aback at having stopped his courtship so effectively.

ly. "I bid you good night, Cousin Jerry Whitefield!"

"There's the matter of your trunk!" Jerry said from the doorway. "It would be better for me to go and get it tonight than to wait till morning. Tell me just how to get to the Dart house in Hemphill street."

Polly told him. "But I dread for you to go to that house, Jerry. If there were only my clothes in the trunk I'd never let you go. But there's my mother's miniature and my money."

It was 10 o'clock when Jerry got out of the gig before Oliver Dart's house and knocked on the oaken door. Mrs. Broggs admitted him. When he said, "I've come to get Miss Polly Chelsey's things," she gave an exclamation of concern.

"Lud, sir! Do you know where she is?"

"Yes, I do. She's safe with me at a tavern. I'm a cousin of her father's, from America, and I mean to look after her. I've got a gig waiting outside. Tell me where her trunk is, and I'll fetch it down to the street."

"Lud!" exclaimed Mrs. Broggs again. "Master's got it! He found out tonight that she'd run off, so he had it carried down to his study, to go through."

"Where is his study?" asked Jerry, visibly angry.

"At the head of the stairs on the floor above, sir. But wait! I can see you're hot-tempered. You'll throw Mr. Dart into a rage, likely."

"Well, he's already thrown me into one. What's he searching Miss Chelsey's clothes for? Firearms? Take me to him."

When the woman ushered Jerry Whitefield into Oliver Dart's study it was evident that they could not have arrived at a more unfortunate moment. The old man was ripping a skirt hem with his pen-knife and pulling out pieces of buckram which he evidently suspected of being paper. Garments were strewn about on floor, table and chairs, giving that pitiful effect which personal objects always give when desecrated.

"Stop that!" Jerry said.

"When it so pleases me. Who are you?"

"My name's Jeremiah Whitefield. I'm cousin to Trepid Chelsey of Connecticut and I mean to take care of his daughter. I've come to bet her belongings." He turned to Mrs. Broggs. "Madam, gather up everything at once, so I can take the trunk down."

"Do so, Mrs. Broggs," said old Oliver Dart, laying down his pen-knife. "I find nothing incriminating."

"Where is the girl's money?"

Jerry asked. "And her mother's picture?"

"I've taken the money," said Oliver Dart, "as a very small payment toward what America owes me. I've also retained the miniature, since that was paid for with Dart money. The frame is of some value."

"Give me those things," Jerry said, much too angry to think clearly. "You're too old for me to fight, but I'll pry you loose from 'em if I have to shake your riffin' down!"

"Sailor talk! . . . Hm-m-m. Well, Mr. Jeremiah Whitefield, I'm an infirm old man with no means of protecting my rights. You'll find what you're looking for in the table drawer over there. See that you deliver it to the girl."

"She'll get it," Jerry replied, "if I live to get to the Unicorn and Crown."

Mrs. Broggs, who was closing the trunk lid, looked up obliquely at Jerry and laid her finger on her lips. But the damage was done. Old Oliver Dart had his great-niece's London address, if he cared to use it. He sat passively silent as Jerry departed with the trunk. He neither scowled nor smiled but sat with his face closed in upon itself, and his finger tips delicately meeting.

JERRY waited till next morning to restore Polly's property to her. He found her satisfyingly appreciative. She went to him and kissed him fleetingly on the lips. "As a grateful person kisses a very kind cousin," she said, laughing.

"I've been at the docks since daylight," he said. "I've found a way for us to get out of England. Chet Wheeler put me onto it. A smuggling clique works out of a cove between Deal and Dover. I've got in touch with one of them. This day week he'll take us across the Channel to a fishing port near Galais. Chet's already gone to Dover, to wait. To hide out, rather."

"But for me," Polly said, "you'd be at Dover with him. The Unicorn and Crown's an awfully public place for an American sailor to be. When I came to you yesterday, Jerry, you lost precious time and took on a useless burden. Two useless burdens!" she insisted, over his protest, for her dog could be heard barking down in the stable yard. "I'd better take Nuisance to the commons and let him run."

"I'll walk part way with you, Polly," Jerry said. "But I must go back to the docks and seal friendship with that French-speaking rascal who's to take us across."

NATION UNVEILS SHRINE IN MAY

PHILADELPHIA — (UP) — A white marble statue of Benjamin Franklin will be unveiled by President Franklin D. Roosevelt, May 19, at the formal dedication of the Franklin Institute, according to the program announced by Philip C. Staples, president of the institute.

The statue, now being sculptured by James Earle Fraser, will depict Benjamin Franklin seated. It will be carved out of "Sera-vezza" white marble, and based on a pedestal of rose anemone marble from Portugal. Overall height of the figure will be about 18 feet.

The Franklin Memorial will be dedicated May 19, 20 and 21 as the national shrine and living memorial to Benjamin Franklin, America's great citizen, printer, scientist, educator, patriot and statesman.

Military displays and maneuvers are planned to follow the President's unveiling of the statue, and foreign representatives will place wreaths at the foot of the statue.

Visiting representatives of federal, state and city governments, representatives of foreign countries and prominent scientists, will be honored at a reception and dinner.

The second day will be devoted to scientific papers on pure science and the conferring of degrees.

Naval displays and maneuvers also will be staged in an effort to center attention upon Franklin's little known but very important part in establishing the country's naval defenses.

The third day's schedule will be highlighted with a symposium on science and its application to business and industry. A children's pageant is planned for the afternoon, and an industrial parade, sponsored by the Poor Richard Club, in the evening.

Thousands of persons, from all parts of the country are expected to visit Philadelphia during the dedication to view the memorial and pay homage to the man who excelled in business, science and government.

Christian Science

Paul's words to the Ephesians, "Grieve not the holy Spirit of God, whereby ye are sealed unto the day of redemption," were the Golden Text in the Lesson-Sermon on "Spirit" on Sunday in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Massachusetts.

A Bible citation in the Lesson-Sermon included these verses from the Acts: "And there sat a certain man at Lystra, impotent in his feet, being a cripple from his mother's womb, who never had walked: The same heard Paul speak: who steadfastly beholding him, and perceiving that he had faith to be healed, said with a loud voice, Stand upright on thy feet. And he leaped and walked." These verses from the Psalms were cited also: "Offer unto God thanksgiving; and pay thy vows unto the most High: And call upon me in the day of trouble: I will deliver thee, and thou shalt glorify me."

One of the correlative passages from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, stated: "Consciousness constructs a better body when faith in matter has been conquered. Correct material belief by spiritual understanding, and Spirit will form you anew."

BENEFITS OF HOT WATER STORE CITED

Southern California dealers, merchant plumbers and gas companies today announced the opening advertising drive to bring home to the people of the Southland the fact that no modern family need be without the benefits of a continuous supply of hot water.

"A correctly designed, efficient automatic gas water heater, the installation of which is the first step in home modernization, is today within the reach of every family budget," Fred Merker, local manager, declared.

"If the full purchase price cannot be paid, a convenient deferred payment plan, with no down payment, payments as low as $3.00 per month and a credit period as long as 24 months, can be arranged.

"In getting behind a cooperative campaign to publicize the availability and advantages of automatic water heating," Merker stated, "we feel we are doing a public service. A recent survey made in Southern California disclosed that a surprising number of families are using outmoded methods of water heating which give only intermittent service.

"Many of these families believe they cannot afford automatic water heating. Investigation will prove to them that there are any number of reasonably priced automatic gas water heaters on the market, well within the limits of even the most modest family budget."

Santa Ana and also police commissioner, and who is a member of Townsend Club No. 2, has been given a place on the program of the National Hardware convention opening today at the Shrine auditorium in Los Angeles, and his subject will be "The Consumer Your Boss."

Jimmie Green of Orange called at headquarters. Green was president of Townsend Club No. 1 for a long time.

E. E. Eldredge of Huntington Beach, who it was announced a few days ago intended to make his home in the future in Santa Ana, now is located at 802 Bush street, and he expects to align himself with one of the Townsend clubs in Santa Ana, having been a member of the Huntington Beach club from its inception.

Word from the headquarters at Los Angeles announces they will have to substitute a different speaker for Club No. 2 Monday night as the ones selected by P. R. Long, 906 West First street, are both engaged. The pinch-hitter will be Col. Albert Barnes who is recommended as one of the best orators in Southern California.

The questionnaire comes in to headquarters from Townsend Club No. 5 of Santa Ana announcing the names of the newly elected officers and their addresses. Walter B. Raugh, 1705 West 6th street, president; J. A. Yergor, 1007 West Camille, vice president; Mrs. Maude Miller, 731 South Birch, secretary; Mrs. Florence A. Dolbe, 706 South Van Ness, treasurer. ## PET TALKS

By Mrs. T. J. Neal

When greyhound puppies of the great Sahara are born, they are never lost sight of for an instant. Visitors arrive in troops to see them. Gifts are brought and all sorts of flattery lavished upon the owner in hopes of getting a puppy. But the owner never decides which puppy he will sell for eight days. Strange superstition causes the Arab to attach the greatest value to the first, third and fifth puppy.

Mosquito larvae are the best food for all aquarium fish. Fish in pools get their share. One can, without much trouble, secure these wiggles for fish that are kept in the house by placing a tub or large pan of water in the garden. The mosquitos will deposit their eggs on the surface of the water and in a day or two the eggs will hatch and wigglers are plentiful.

Cocker puppies should not be trained too young for hunting. One may teach them obedience and yard retrieving, but it is best not to put them into actual field for training until at least eight or nine months old. Never use a shotgun the first time out; a 22 rifle is much better until they become accustomed to gun fire. They should be taken out at times alone and at times with other well trained dogs.

This is canary breeding time; the 15th of February has been considered for many years the right date for pairing the birds. A hen that lays soft-shelled eggs should not be mated until she has had a season of proper food and rest.

DECORATIONS SET FOR ORANGE SHOW

The contract for decorating the mammoth Orange Show auditorium in San Bernardino for the forthcoming 28th National Orange Show was let today by the board of directors of the show to Jones and Keown, Inc. The price for beautifying the interior in keeping with the theme of "Golden Fruit and Flowers" is in excess of $10,000 and calls for the use of more than 70,000 yards of silver metal cloth, lustrous silks, velours and satens. Thirty massive chandeliers provide the major part of illumination. A crew of 30 workers will be kept busy from now until the show opens on March 17th.

The stage is being enlarged and improved and the visitors' balcony moved and completely revamped.

REG CARRINGTON ASKS COMMANDER ELLSBERG:

"Can you tell a Real Difference between Camels and other cigarettes?"

Copyright, 1938, R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Company, Winston-Salem, North Carolina

REG CARRINGTON: "I see you're a steady Camel smoker, Commander. There really isn't any difference in cigarettes, is there?"

COMMANDER ELLSBERG: "You're dead wrong, Reg. The life of a deep-sea diver is tough on a man. Most of the divers I know are steady Camel smokers, and they know there's a difference. Taken my own case. I've smoked Camels for ten years. They never get on my nerves. Smoking Camels, I feel that I enjoy life more. Camel is the cigarette that agrees with me."

CLUB-ROOM CONVERSATION (above) so often swings around to cigarettes. Commander Ellsberg says: "That famous saying, 'I'd walk a mile for a Camel!' expresses how enthusiastic I am about Camels myself."

"Yes—absolutely!" says Commander Edward Ellsberg. And millions of other steady smokers agree that there is a distinct difference in Camels. That's why Camels are the largest-selling cigarette in the world.

A MAN OF ACTION! (right) Commander Ellsberg shares under-sea danger with his men. He says: "The last thing a diver does before going down—and the first thing he does after coming up—is to smoke a Camel."

THE TORCH (left) invented by Ellsberg. Imagine the long, tiring hours of research he put in on this successful invention! He says: "When I feel tired—a Camel gives me a quick 'lift.'"

OF COURSE an Annapolis man likes to sail! (right) "Camels fit in with my leisure hours, too," Ellsberg says. "In all my years of smoking Camels, I've never known them to jangle my nerves. That means a lot—because I smoke a lot!"

Jimmie Fidler in Hollywood

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 7.—(Personal observations: Frank McHugh must have a suspicious nature—he never eats a sandwich without first opening it for a detailed examination. Make Eddie Cantor mad enough—it's hard to do—and a scar on his forehead flames crimson. Arleen Whelan nibbles at her food with the gusto of a nervous canary. Only those who have heard Carole Lombard discuss the income tax situation can appreciate her dramatic ability. Henry Fonda observes all of the theater's pet substitutions—and carefully crosses his fingers when anyone violates them in his presence.

If there is a piano in the room, Fred Keating is always the life of the party. Bill Powell has a nervous habit of popping his knuckles. Until she smiles, Annabella's expression is as petulant as that of a pouting child. Bing Crosby is an habitual "Doodler," claims he achieves his most intricate designs while carrying on a telephone conversation. While directing a movie scene, Ernest Schoedsack painstakingly ties knots in a handkerchief—and then spends his time between scenes trying to untie them.

Acknowledging an introduction, George Brent always brings his heels together as snappily as a Prussian officer. Leo Carillo has an amusing habit of counting on his fingers. When he is concentrating, Gary Cooper invariably whistles "Where the River Shannon Flows." In fifteen years of constant association, I have never once heard Dick Arlen refer to himself as an actor—he prefers to say, "I'm in the picture business."

Never again will I wonder why women the world over consider French gentlemen so charming. In the studio cafe today, six of Warner Brothers' fairest—Olivia de Havilland, Anita Louise, Jane Bryan, Marie Wilson, Margaret Lindsay and Beverly Roberts—were chatting and laughing like so many school girls about a non-sensical proposal to buy a San Fernando valley ranch and share its one big house. "We shall prove that actresses can live together harmoniously," cried Anita. "What shall we call our colony?" Fernand Gravet, lunching with me at the table next to theirs, leaned over. "Pardon the suggestion," said he, "but if you will make me your gardener, I would call it Paradise!"

Yakima Cannutt is the dean of Hollywood's stunt-men. Most of the dare-devils who were in "the game" when he started have been killed—Yakima goes placidly on, from one death-defying hazard to another, and except for a broken bone or two, he seems no worse for wear. The secret of his longevity is the extreme care with which he plans every minute detail.

HUNDREDS SEEK INFORMATION ON LOCAL AREA

During the three months ending February 1, a total of 1616 requests for literature concerning Orange county has been received by the county publicity department through the All Year Club of Southern California, it was announced today by V. D. Johnson, county publicity manager.

Johnson explained that the All Year club now is the sole channel of publicity contacts, since the county has discontinued its advertising in Los Angeles newspapers.

A number of the inquiries asked for specific information, and received special replies, in addition to the regular answers made to all inquiries, and the follow-up letters mailed later, Johnson said.

In response to requests, bulk packages have been mailed by the publicity department to the following: Essex County Automobile club, Windsor, Canada, 100 copies; Eastern Information offices of Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific Railway, 500 copies; Information Bureau of All Year club, Los Angeles, 300 copies; California State Chamber of Commerce, San Francisco, 100 copies; Santa Fe Railway, for eastern information headquarters, 500 copies.

ACCIDENT CLAIMS AIRED BY STATE

Hearing for five industrial accident claims was scheduled for today in the city hall, upon order of Charles A. Son, commissioner of the state industrial accident commission.

George L. McConnell, injured while working at the Santa Ana Cabinet and Fixture company, entered claim with the company and its insurance company; Mack Jenkins, represented by Atty. Monte C. Ficus, has a claim against Brewster, Weaver and Soule and the state compensation insurance fund; A. P. Humphrey has a claim against J. E. Schumacher and an automobile insurance company.

Joseph W. Branson, represented by Atty. B. Z. West, has a claim against the Santa Ana Lumber company and an automobile insurance company, and Lillie F. Aherns has a claim against August Lofgren and an insurance company.

STATE AUTO CLUB TO HEAR OF JUDGE ALLEN'S 'STRIPE PLAN'

Possibility of state-wide endorsement of Superior Judge James L. Allen's plan for "decorating" automobiles of drunken and reckless drivers with a red stripe loomed today.

Several months ago Judge Allen granted probation to a man who had pleaded guilty to drunken driving with one of the terms of probation being that he paint a red stripe, four inches wide, around his automobile. The reason for this, the judge said, was to warn other motorists that the occupant of the car had been a menace to traffic.

Church Speaker

Dr. Carl Sumner Knopf, dean of the school of religion at the University of Southern California, above, who will appear at the opening program of the 15th annual Church Night Program of the First Methodist Church of Santa Ana, Wednesday evening.

Receives Letter

Saturday he received a letter from B. O. Miller, president of W. I. Hollingsworth and Company, lauding the plan and declaring that he shall call it to the attention of the Automobile Club of Southern California for approval of that organization. In his letter Miller said that, in his opinion, the plan should also be used against reckless drivers.

Replying to Miller, Judge Allen said he has no intention of confining the penalty to cases of drunken driving.

Any Driver "Eligible"

"The red stripe will be ordered on the automobile of any driver found guilty of flagrantly menacing other motorists or pedestrians, in the event they come before this court."

"A motorist who persists in driving an automobile while under the influence of liquor or who, when sober, operates his automobile in such a manner as to endanger the lives of others is a menace to safety and should be branded as such."

"Jail is punishment for one offense but is not often a cure and in many cases works a hardship on the violator's family by taking away their bread-winner. On the other hand if the violator's automobile is marked so that all people on the highways know that he is a menace to traffic there is a possibility of curbing the needless loss of life."

Rydborg Story Is In Country Home

One of the three short stories to be sold within a month's time by Ernest Rydborg, former Santa Ana man, is "Gee, Isn't Life Gorgeous" in the current number of "Country Home."

Rydborg, now a resident of San Francisco, lived here until two years ago and has been writing fiction for several years. He began writing while working as accountant at the Orange Building and Loan association. Mrs. Rydborg, also a successful writer, was the author of a poem used several months ago as the title page for an issue of Better Homes and Gardens. Before her marriage she was Miss Louisa Hampton.

CHECK PLANS ON SEA SCOUT BASE

Plans for development of the Sea Scout base at Newport Harbor as a permanent base for all sea scout ships in Southern California are being given a final check by C. A. Miller, national executive of the Boy Scouts of America prior to formal adoption.

Miller, who is touring California visiting scout troops and sea scout ships, was in Orange county last week and attended a conference of county sea scout officials, sponsors of the proposed plan, officials of the city of Newport Beach and Harrison White, Orange county scout executive.

Following the conference Miller agreed to check the program for expansion of the sea scout movement and erection of a permanent base at the harbor before returning it for formal adoption by the sponsoring committee and approval of Southern California Sea Scout units.

HOLD FUNERAL OF COUNTY PIONEER

Last rites for James McMillan, 83, pioneer Orange county resident, were held Saturday afternoon at the Smith and Tutthill chapel in Santa Ana. The Rev. O. Scott McFarland, of Santa Ana, conducted the service. The songs, "The Old Ragged Cross" and "In the Garden," were sung.

Pall bearers included relatives of the deceased, Donald McMillan, Russell Alford, Gerald McMillan, Riley Clanton, Edward Taggart and Louis Bauer. Interment followed in Fairhaven cemetery by the side of the wife, whose death occurred six months ago.

A native of Scotland, McMillan had been engaged in ranching at Smeltzer since he gave up his profession as sea captain.

Survivors include his son, Donald McMillan; daughters, Mrs. Agnes Taggart; Mrs. Grace Clanton and Mrs. Rachel Bauer.

The surface of England and Wales will be flat in 5,500,000 years due to river erosion, according to estimates.

IT'S AUTOS FOR HORSES IN OLD WEST AS U.S. BRONCHOS BLUSH WITH THOUGHT OF TRAILER RIDE

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.—(UP)—Secretary of Interior Harold L. Ickes sang the "swan song" today for the picturesque cowboys who ride the western range for Uncle Sam. Automobiles, he announced, will replace horses as the range riders' mounts this spring. His announcement put it this way:

"When the federal range riders swing into action this spring the pitter of horses' feet will be supplemented by the pitter of motor cars."

The cowboy, as he was known when cowmen were building the west, soon may join the Indian scout of Kit Carson's day in history. About the only places left him now in his typical attire are the dude ranches and Hollywood movie lots.

In motorizing his cowhands, Ickes will be following the example set by modern "cattle rustlers" who have turned to trucks and automobiles to raid ranchers' herds and speed stolen cattle to market.

"Increased economy in patrolling and surveying wide areas, some with roads and some without, will be attained by providing the range rider with gas-burning instead of hay-burning transportation," Ickes said.

The horse, however, will not completely pass out of the picture. Ickes conceded there are places a horse can go where an automobile can't.

"So," he said, "when the range rider hits the trail this spring in his automobile his favorite horse will enjoy the scenery from a trailer."

When the ranger has driven his automobile to the end of the road he will mount his horse to push on into the badlands. This, Ickes said, will insure greater efficiency in the riding of 120,000,000 acres of federal range land upon which

NEW CORE DRILL WORK TO START IN CREEK AREA

Award of a contract for additional core drilling in the San Juan creek area as a part of the county's $15,000,000 flood control program is pending in the Los Angeles office of the United States Army Engineers, according to an announcement today.

Bids for the work were opened last Monday and the award will be made within the next seven days.

The contract on which bids were made, called for the drilling of holes in the valley bed from 50 to 200 feet in depth, to obtain an idea of the foundation on which the dam would rest. The result of these borings will in a great measure determine the location of any flood control dam built in the area, according to engineers.

E. F. Spencer, head of the army engineers' office in Santa Ana said today that the contract now pending is in addition to core drillings already completed and in progress.

Explorations have been completed in the Prado, Brea, Fullerton and Carbon Canyon retarding basins and similar work is nearing completion in the Villa Park, Aliso and Trabuco basins, Spencer said.

The successful contractor on the San Juan basin project will be required to begin work within seven days from the time the war department issues the go ahead order. He will be allowed 19 days in which to complete the work.

If the job is not completed within that time liquidated damages of $5 a day will be assessed by the government.

9,000,000 cattle, sheep, horses and goats graze.

NOTED SINGERS ON CECILIAN MUSIC PROGRAM

Prominent Santa Ana vocalists will join with Louis Silva, popular Los Angeles tenor, and the Cecilian Singers in a concert to be given at 8 p. m. tomorrow in the Orange high school auditorium.

Silva will sing two groups of songs, one a selection of Portuguese songs, the other including Handel's "Come Beloved," from "Atalanta," and "Hear Me, Ye Winds and Waves."

McCormac in Charge
Local singers to be featured at the concert are Miss Laura Jouier, Miss Elizabeth Morgan, Mrs. Joy Brisco, Miss Alice Martin and Mrs. Dorothy Rowland. Halstead McCormac will be in charge of the Cecilian Singers and will direct the concert that promises to be one of the outstanding musical programs of the current season.

Silva is prominent in Los Angeles as a vocalist, having sung leading roles in operas presented by the Los Angeles Recreation department. He also is in great demand as soloist for service clubs and Elks clubs throughout Southern California. At present he is singing for the Fox film studios.

40 Feminine Voices
With the concert to be presented Tuesday night, the Cecilian Singers are beginning their third concert season under direction of Halstead McCormac. The chorus composed of 40 feminine voices has presented both secular and sacred concerts and have a repertoire of chorus numbers ranging from the works of classical composers to the works of the most modern writers.

Supporting Silva the Cecilian Singers will present four groups of songs, including Edward Elgar's "The Snow," accompanied by Violinists Simon Plas and Robert MacVoy; Schubert's "To Music," in the original German; Spross "To The Spirit of Music"; Tachikowsky's "Cherubim Song"; Mozart's "Elves of the Forest"; a Bach Bourree and the popular "Let All My Life Be Music."

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Feb. 7.—(UP)—Mainline rail and automobile travel between California and Oregon was halted, today by a landslide at Root Creek, a mile south of the Shasta county line.

Southern Pacific railroad officials said the slide derailed the locomotive of the southbound Cascade Limited. The remainder of the train stayed on the rails and no injuries were reported.

The slide blocked state highway 99 and engineers said traffic would be held up indefinitely.

Relieve Flood Fears
The U. S. weather bureau's forecast for unsettled weather today and tomorrow, meantime, indicated a week-long storm had broken and relieved fears of impending floods in the Sacramento Valley area.

Heavy rains in the upper Sacramento river watershed caused only slight rises in the river's stage. Rainfall was light in other sections. The weather bureau said the river would crest at approximately 15 feet at Kennett today and at 17 feet at Hamilton City tonight. The river reached a 21.1 foot peak at Red Bluff this morning and 23.6 at Knight's Landing, where it began falling slowly. A 75-foot crest was expected at Colusa tomorrow night.

REBELS CLAIM MAJOR VICTORY AT TUSTIN HIGH

HENDAYE, French-Spanish Frontier, Feb. 7.—(UP)—Spanish Nationalists claimed their greatest victory in many weeks today in a mass offensive north of Teruel, on the eastern front.

They asserted they had gained 15½ miles, killed 2000 Loyalists, taken 3000 prisoners, cut off a brigade headquarters and seized two artillery batteries, 100 machine guns, 300 rifles, trucks, an arms dump, mortars, one tank and fortification material.

Plan Major Offensive
It was indicated that the drive continued and that if successful the Nationalists might embark on an offensive of major moment aimed at cutting communications between Valencia and Catalonia in the northeast.

The Nationalist radio at Zaragoza asserted that the Nationalists had taken Alhambra and Perales at dawn today. This would mean that the insurgents had cut the important road between Teruel and Belchite.

Loyalist authorities admitted that the Nationalists had made gains. They said, however, that their men had retreated in orderly manner and then checked the advance.

CHINESE AIDED BY NEW PLANES

SHANGHAI, Feb. 7.—(UP)—The Chinese were noted in line with today that Chinese airplanes, in a raid on Nanking, destroyed 12 Japanese airplanes at the airport. This report followed assertions that an undetermined number of foreign airplanes had reached the Chinese army.

It was reported that 600 German and American motor trucks had passed through Canton last week on their way to the army, and that a number of American trucks were on the way. It was said also that Chinese authorities were trying to insure prompt delivery of 3400 British and American trucks which apparently were approaching China by steamship.

Munitions Arrive
Increased artillery activity by the Chinese was noted in line with reports that some munitions were arriving. It was reported today that Chinese, marching through heavy snow, had reached the town of Yuhang, 10 miles west of Hangchow, and that their artillery had demolished the west gate of Yuhang. This front is southwest of Shanghai, where Chinese guerrillas have been active.

Chinese reported that Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek had assumed personal direction of the battle on the central front, and had ordered an additional 100,000 troops massed along the east-to-west "Lunkhai" railroad which is the key position of the front.

By ANGELO PATRI

THIRD-YEAR BOY

Dear Little Boy: You who have just come from the Second up to the Third, let me tell you that everybody in the school likes you, wishes you well, and is ready to do everything to help you get on in school, get a good report card and have a good time.

But nobody can do much. It all depends upon you. You are the boss of yourself. We can tell you and show you and advise you, but you have the last word. What you do after we have spoken, is what counts the most. What ought a Third-Year boy to do to be a good pupil?

Come to school fresh and clean. That means that you start the night before to get ready. You go to bed on time. You wash carefully before getting into bed. You sleep long with windows open. You rise when you are called; take a shower; dress, and eat your breakfast. Drink milk and eat your cooked cereal these mornings. You see you have to be healthy to get anywhere. A place on the team waits for the healthiest, most intelligent and well-liked boy. You'll be healthy if you bathe and sleep and eat and play as you ought.

You'll be liked if you do your best. First, obey orders. You are one of a class. The teacher is the head officer. She knows what is to be done next and how it is to be done. She is responsible for what you do and how you do it. If you are quick to obey, if your eyes are right on the teacher, you will get off to a quick start in the right direction. And the chances of getting first place are good.

When the teacher sees you are ready to follow orders, quick and cheerful in your response, she is with you one hundred per cent. If she sees you need help you'll get it. If she sees you doing a good job she will be quick to say so. When she has a chance to give you a lift you'll get it because she has learned to depend on you as an intelligent, helpful pupil.

Keep the rules. That is easy. It only means that you do all you can to help. Don't push in line. Don't chew gum and stick it on the furniture. Put all papers in the basket and pick up any that you can find in the halls or on the classroom floors. Do your bit all ways and a little more. It is doing that little more that makes people like you, and you must be liked.

Don't laugh when a fellow makes a mistake. Look right at the teacher or go on with your work. You'd hate to make a mistake and be laughed at, and it may be your turn next period. School is the place to make mistakes and have them corrected.

Mind your business. That means that you have no tales to tell. Let the teacher attend to what happens and say nothing. The only time that a fellow should tell is when something serious has happened, and it is up to him to tell his story to save someone else. Then it must be told privately. If such a thing happens don't tell until you have asked your mother and father about it. You might make a mistake. Most of the time a Third-Year Boy has nothing to tell. Unless, of course, he did something he ought not to have done and has to confess it. Then he does it right off and forgets it.

So, Third-Year Boy, keep fit; keep clean; do your job as well as you know how; play hard; tell the truth; mind your own business, and you will be liked. And there will be A's on your card.

Your friend,

Angelo Patri

SIZE OF OUR INDUSTRIES

Merle Thorpe, presenting some facts before the Chamber of Commerce of New York state, made the assertion that:

"American enterprisers with our earnings, have developed thousands of discoveries and inventions, and eighteen of them, for example in the last 50 years, have grown into great industries employing between nine and one-half million men and women—one-quarter of all those gainfully employed today, in eighteen industries that existed only as dreams in the minds of some enterprising men fifty years ago.

"No great enterprise of similar size has been developed in any other of the 59 countries of the world during this same period."

In an early issue, The Register will publish the address from which this quotation was taken.

It is one of the best explanations that we have had the pleasure of reading of why our standard of living has been high in the past and why we now have unemployment.

When this article appears in The Register, it is suggested that if the reader does not have time to read it when he receives the paper that he lay it aside and read it when he has time; and after he has read the article, hand it or mail it to some friend who has not had an opportunity to read it.

COMPETE AND CONSERVE

There has just been a conviction of 16 oil companies and 30 of their executives for violation of the anti-trust laws. They fixed the price of gasoline, a jury found, and that meant there was no competition between them. The inference is that they must compete.

Very well. Now right on the heels of that dictum comes a meeting of executives from 10 oil producing states to consider what is to be done about a report on petroleum reserves. This report, by Alex W. McCoy of Ponca City, Okla., indicates that 6,000,000,000 barrels of oil will have to be discovered in the next five years to balance supply with demand in 1945. Governor Tingley of New Mexico sees 50-cent gasoline within eight years unless strictest conservation is practiced.

This makes the competition situation even more complex, for the federal government is insisting on competition, while state governments, alarmed, are debating joint state action to regulate production and stabilize prices. That is generally regarded as necessary to intelligent conservation.

To compete and conserve at the same time, that is the problem.

MAKING STREETS SAFER

Many and many a city has conducted sporadic safety drives to try to cut down the terrible toll in dead and wounded that automobiles are taking every day.

And many of them wound up at the end of 1937 to find that, to their surprise and horror, the toll was higher than it had been the year before, despite all the campaigns and viewings with alarm.

But a few other cities got a different answer, and it is worthwhile to inquire why. Santa Ana furnishes one of the most heartening examples of what can be done by a community that wants to do something about the problem.

At the close of 1936 Santa Ana was near the top of the list of "killer" cities in its population class.

Police Chief Floyd W. Howard and members of the traffic squad headed by Lieutenant B. A. Hershey, were ashamed and alarmed. They decided to do something about it.

At the end of 1937, nine months after the safety drive was launched, Santa Ana had cut off a larger percentage of its traffic toll than hundreds of other cities of its size in the country. Accidents had been cut from 184 to 158. Injuries had been slashed from 259 to 214 and the number of deaths were cut in half. Deaths in 1936 had been eight and in 1937 they were reduced to four.

That is a record of which any city might be proud, but the best thing about it is that no trick methods were employed, no special machinery or facilities used that are not equally available to any other city.

The police started the campaign by making autoists adhere to the city speed limits. Chief Howard and his men were criticized severely for this act, merchants claiming it kept people from coming here to trade. Chief Howard, however, turned a deaf ear to the complaints. The city council, at the suggestion of the police, eliminated ticket-fixing. Every accident was thoroughly investigated. The streets were marked with signs warning drivers that traffic laws were being enforced.

None of these things is new. Most cities have tried one or all of them. But where Santa Ana excelled was in pressing the campaign without a let-up throughout the year. The two-week campaign that has every motorist on his toes and then is forgotten had no place in the Santa Ana picture.

It can be done—this job of cutting down accidents. And it doesn't take any fantastic or expert measures. What it does take is what Santa Ana gave it and what any city can give it. That is a widespread determination never to let up a minute until results are obtained.

The campaign started in 1937 is being continued with the same enthusiasm this year.

INCREASING PURCHASING POWER

We hear a great deal nowadays about increasing purchasing power.

How is purchasing power increased? It is increased by production.

Production includes the creating of things and services and getting them where people want them and when they want them. A great part of the production is getting things where people want them when they want them.

Then purchasing power comes from producing something and getting it where people want it when they want it. Purchasing power can be transferred from one to another by gifts, by stealing, by taxation, but it is not increased by any method but production.

If the government gives in exchange an equal amount of service for the taxes it receives from the people, there is no decrease in purchasing power. If it gives more in exchange than the wealth it takes from the private citizen, then this increases purchasing power.

Our present unemployment is due largely to people not understanding the only way purchasing power can be increased.

We have greatly reduced purchasing power by interfering with the natural exchange of goods and services.

Public opinion has come to believe, and for this reason enacted laws, that taking from one and giving to another increases purchasing power. It is believed that high wages increase purchasing power; that long time credit increases purchasing power. Public opinion has put into laws mechanisms which attempt to increase purchasing power by these methods but instead of increasing purchasing power, it has cut purchasing power in half.

Our great need is education as to how purchasing power is increased and diffused. It cannot be permanently done arbitrarily. It must be done in a natural way. Of course, purchasing power of consumable goods can be temporarily increased at the expense of replacing and increasing equipment that would increase purchasing power later; but it cannot be increased permanently by taking from one and giving to another.

Let there be discussions on this subject! Let us throw the light on how purchasing power is increased and spread!

IMPROPER ACTS OF LEGISLATION

As to why we have one-fifth of our people out of employment for the last five years, what was said 150 years ago on the subject of enterprise in Federalist Paper No. LXII, written by Hamilton or Madison, certainly is timely in our present plight. The author is discussing the protection the people have as to hasty legislation. He says, "no law or resolution can be passed without the concurrence, first, of the people and then the majority of states. It must be acknowledged that this complicated check on legislation may in some instances be injurious as well as beneficial."

Then he says, "AND AS THE FACILITY AND EXCESS OF LAW-MAKING SEEM TO BE THE DISEASES TO WHICH OUR GOVERNMENTS ARE MOST LIABLE, IT IS NOT IMPOSSIBLE THAT THIS PART OF THE CONSTITUTION MAY BE MORE CONVENIENT IN PRACTICE THAN IT APPEARS TO MANY IN CONTEMPLATION."

Had these principles still been in effect and had it been difficult for the legislators, by their volition, to pass the discriminatory Wagner act that makes it almost illegal even for employers to distribute circulars to their workmen and that permits the representatives of the government to take any fraction of the fruits of production they see fit, it is doubtful whether we would have had three million men thrown out of work in the last four months.

The unwise and hasty laws, which prevent private initiative from functioning are causing our trouble.

IS THIS AMERICA?

Testifying before the senate judiciary committee, Madden, who is at the head of the National Labor Relations act, made the statement that a sit-down strike might follow a violation by an employer, such as distributing circulars. He argues that the workers have a right to refuse to work if the employer makes an effort to explain the effects of arbitrary wages—the effects of collective bargaining—on their jobs.

We have drifted a long way from our Constitution, which preserved the right of freedom of speech, the freedom of enterprise. It is amazing that we have passed a law which so disregards fair play, but it is not amazing, with laws of this kind on our statute books, that the bank clearings for last week in 22 leading cities showed that they were 26 percent less than they were a year ago.

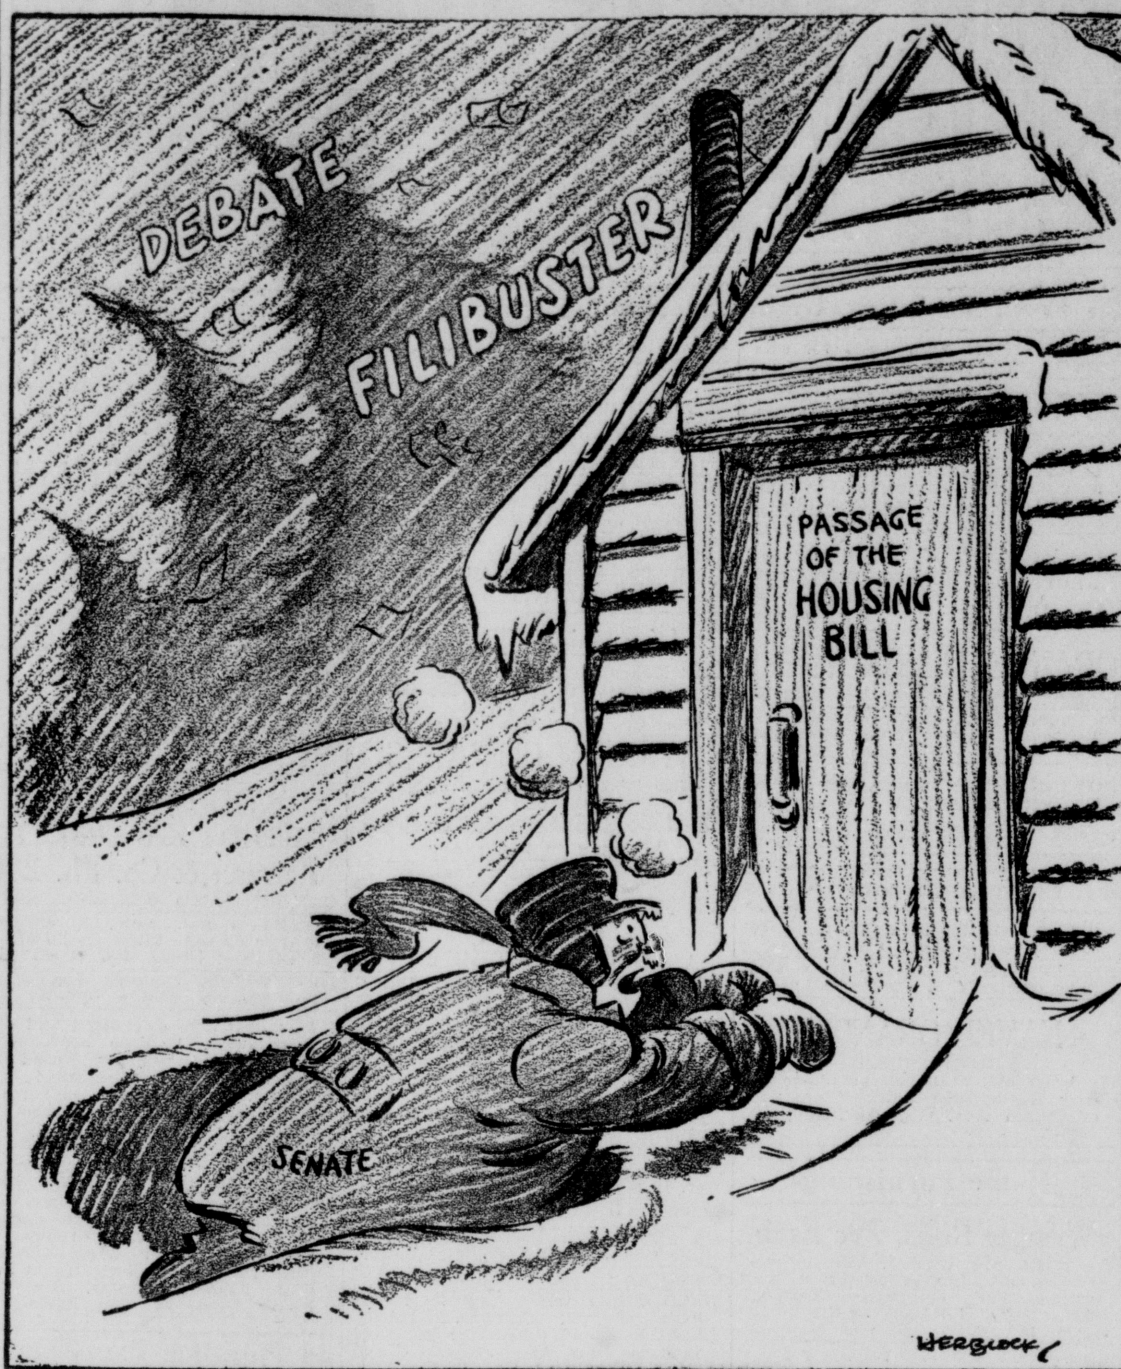

As long as we continue to give the politicians the right to be the judge as to what constitutes a day's work and as long as we refuse to give the man who has abstained, and as a result is using capital in an attempt to produce new wealth, no protection from the coercive force of labor racketeers, there is little hope that we can have a resumption of prosperity.

POLITICS OUT OF TAXES

The last quarter of a century, our method of taxing has been more and more a method of buying votes. It has been politics pure and simple. Taxes are levied by the congress, not on any scientific basis as to what would add to the general welfare over a long period of years, but they were made to appeal to the unthinking crowd.

If we take taxes out of politics and levy taxes on the basis, as any business would make charges for services, as nearly as possible in proportion to what the service they are rendering costs them, things would boom again! Then there would be lower costs; then there would be employment! Then there would be a brighter future for the young boys and girls, instead of the dismal outlook of facing government regulation and regimentation!

Fellow Citizens: The news item in the East Oregonian about Harry Bridges using the boycott for compelling sheepmen to shear with union labor is a sample of what his brand of unionism is doing down here.

In the great Central Valleys of California the same tactics are being used against turkey growers, gardeners and orchardists. The instrument of compulsion there includes the truck drivers' union; and the unions have succeeded too. A farmer may not dress his own poultry with his own labor or with help of his own choice. He must hire union labor. Failing so to do, he must pay 121-2 cents a piece for stamps and a stamp must be stuck on each turkey.

I understand that the money paid for the stamps goes to the union in lieu of the wages that union workers would have gotten for dressing the fowls.

A farmer may not deliver his own fruit and garden truck with his own labor, in his own truck. He must hire union drivers.

Here in Southern California the truck drivers' union has attacked the dairy and creamery men; and if they succeed they will dominate those industries. For nearly all the feed that is used by the dairies comes in by truck from the Imperial and San Joaquin valleys. A dairyman may not do this trucking with his own labor or hired help of his own choice in his own trucks. He must hire union help in the dairy also and union truck drivers. The same conditions are also imposed on the creameries. They must use union help in the creamery and transport their supplies and products with union truck drivers.

These demands are enforced with the boycott. Buyers, warehouse men and retailers have been so intimidated in some localities that they do not dare to buy, store, or sell these boycotted products.

The Harry Bridges union now controls the longshoremen on this coast. I presume that it is the C.I.O. that controls the truck drivers' union. With these two unions he can compel farmers and all other industry and business which relies on water and motor transportation to use union labor exclusively both in the transportation and producing crops and goods and in the transaction of business.

It only remains for him, or his kind to gain control of the railway unions for the unions to possess a complete monopoly in the right to work.

They can then compel all employers to use union labor exclusively. They can slam the doors of the unions in the face of non-union labor and the young people as they pass out of school. These things will deny to all but union members the right to life, liberty and a pursuit of happiness. There will be an oppressive dictatorship by union labor.

What then are the young men and women who are not in the unions and who may be denied admission going to do about this? And what are the older men and women outside of the unions going to do about it? And what is agriculture, industry and business to do about it?

I have been a union labor fan nearly all my life. I took sides with Eugene V. Debs and his A. R. U. in the great railway strike of 1914. I have addressed union labor meetings on Labor Day by their invitation. I have attended one of their state conventions as a fraternal delegate from the farmers union. I have been happy in this association because labor was then, I believe, on the receiving end of a raw deal in our economic system.

The tables now seem to be turned. In 1932 when the national income was only $39,000,000,000, $25,000,000,000 of this went to labor. This $25,000,000,000 had a tremendous buying power too, because of the low cost of living. Our employers on the contrary lost tremendously, not only in 1932 but all through the depression.

The excess of income paid out by them over the income produced was nine and one-half billions of dollars in 1932; and the total for 1930-1931-1932 was over twenty-three and one-half billions. Agriculture and manufacturing lost most of this—the decline in each of these was 70 per cent between 1929 and 1932. These figures were taken from the Statistical Abstract of the United States and published during the Roosevelt administration.

Not only did agriculture and industry sustain great losses, but there were some 12,000,000 workers who lost their jobs. There was not enough work for all, and these were crowded out. The wages that lucky workers who held their jobs got was enough during that era of low living costs to keep themselves and all of the 12,000,000 idle workers in the same comfort that labor enjoyed in 1913.

So it is that unorganized labor, agriculture, industry and business are now getting the raw deal while union labor waxes in power under the favor of such legislation as the Wagner Labor Relations Act. And it is not a fair presumption that this is a large factor in the present recession and the heavy decline on the stock market?

C. P. STRAIN

1619 West Third street, Santa Ana, Calif.

Fellow Citizens:

Please let me help to get these hit and run fellows straightened out on the Bible. Now Mr. Lewis Betts. He is from the arguing clubs at Long Beach and of course he has forgotten all about the Bible since he got his orange grove near Tustin. He jumps on Mr. Colbeck instead of jumping on that Stovall man or Mr. Henry Weeks of Laguna Beach. Of course Mr. Weeks is not as good as I am but he is no hit and run fellow. Oh yes, I think Mr. Carlyle is another hit and run fellow. But Bro. Carlyle is an extra good speaker on the Dr. Townsend plan and I sure like those speeches. He knows his unions there. But as for the Bible history and the Bible stories and Bible contradictions he forgets. Now when the Bible says that they had a big war in heaven and men on horses and they fought the devil up there and they threw the devil out and the devil had a long tail and his tail knocked one-third of the stars to earth, well I just can't believe this and no one else that has ever studied astronomy. Now as for the contradictions of the Bible there are 144 scattered all through the Bible, and one is that there are several places in the Bible that say that no one has seen God nor heard his voice at any time. But the Bible says in a large number of places where 92 men saw God and talked with God, and heard his voice. Amos saw God on a wall with a plumb line in his hand. God asked Amos did he see the plumb line. Amos answered yes I do, also God wrestled with Jacob and put his hip out of joint. Moses told God to quit choking the people with the 1000 truck loads of quails and God did so. Yet Moses was in a field with a man, and Moses looked this way and that way and he did not see anyone, then he killed this man and buried him then he beat it to another country. Oh yes, Luke 19, chapter 27, Jesus said to them, those that will not let me run over them bring them up in front of me and kill them and for the vulgar stories through the Bible you would be surprised to think that these Jew priests would ever put such in the Bible.

C. E. STOVALL, Scientist.

Editor Register: I regret that an article appeared in the "Townsend News" column of your issue of January 19, 1938, in which reference to me and Mr. John L. White of Laguna Beach were so grossly in error that I am forced to ask you to publish a correction.

I am not now, and never have been, employed as secretary to Edward J. Margrett. It is true that I have given of my time for the past two months without compensation in support of a program to place the California state old-age pension on a sound financial basis by utilizing funds from the retail sales tax for the payment of pensions. The ultimate failure of counties to pay pensions, already started by Del Norte county, due to increases in property taxes ranging from two percent to as high as 82 percent in 42 of 58 counties of the state, in my opinion makes this program necessary.

Edward J. Margrett holds no office nor position in the American Security League, which I represent in the south, but has given liberally of his time and money to this cause. There was no truth to the implication in your column that either Mr. White or myself said anything derogatory to the Townsend movement in the meeting at Laguna Beach. It is true that I was invited by the Townsend club, without a dissenting vote, to lay the program of the American Security League before them, and that many of the people agreed with me thereafter, that there was nothing in it derogatory to the Townsend movement. A substantial number of witnesses to the truth of this assertion can be produced if you desire.

Believing that your paper did not intentionally misrepresent the facts concerning my activities, I request that you give this correction as prominent space as was given to the article referred to.

Cordially yours,

PAUL J. LICHTENFELS

News Behind the News

By PAUL MALLON

World Copyright 1938 by King Features Syndicate, Inc.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.—Those oil men who were convinced by the government for the price fixing started under government direction in NRA days, have more of a story than was told in court—or ever will be.

Not from them but from a third authoritative party come an inside explanation which may answer recent questions of government officials who wonder why any business ever had anything to fear.

Provable basis of the story is that the convicted oil industry contributed about 7 per cent ($88,250) of the total democratic campaign fund which re-elected Mr. Roosevelt in 1936. Oil gave the Republicans only a little over 2 per cent ($86,650) of their campaign fund. Not only that but two of the actual defendants contributed personally to the New Deal cause as did other officials of convicted corporations who did not happen to be defendants personally.

The authority whose word is hardly to be doubted says the oil men were for Roosevelt under the definite misapprehension that these prosecutions by the government were to be by injunction and not criminal proceedings.

How they received that understanding may be disputed, or at least is difficult to prove.

One excellent congressional authority says a leading contribution collector for the administration, whose testimony is not now available, helped to give it. Others say the word came through interested congressmen from oil states.

If it were not for the mitigating NRA circumstances, of course no one would now give a second thought to such a misunderstanding, but reputable congressmen openly contended for the justice and reasonableness of the procedure. They even contended for it before justice department officials when they learned later that criminal proceedings were to be instituted. They were then told Attorney General Cummings had earlier written a letter directing criminal proceedings. Orders had been issued. Nothing could be done.

Once officially started, the actual prosecutors had no interest in mitigating circumstances or misunderstandings, however reasonable and just these might appear to some. They wanted to win the case, and did.

There is apparently no question but what the oil men are guilty. Technically the whole NRA was a wilful violation of the anti-trust laws. (Ask Senator Borah.) The justice department therefore can do nothing now. Nor can anyone else, except the supreme court to which appeal is being made. It could order a new trial admitting evidence of the mitigating NRA circumstances.

Cummings will just send flowers to the New Deal oil men in their cells.

Latest data on debts are disclosed in a dull un-noticed house speech made by Republican Representative Engel of Michigan. (See page 1902 Congressional Record, February 3.) Engel gave results of a personal study which showed the treasury public debt at 37 billions plus $2.7 of non-receivable RFC assets for a total of 40 billions on January 21. He figured state and local debts at 19 billions, making a total national state and local government debt of 60 billions.

Private long-term debt was estimated at 73 billions, making the total public and private debt an unbelievable $133 billions.

This was compared by Engel with national assessed real estate valuations of 134 billions which includes the mortgage on the U. S. is about 93.4 per cent of the real estate valuation. He also compared it with the estimated national wealth of 286 billions to conclude that debts now amount to 46.5 per cent of the national wealth.

Added explanations being offered in the Chandler-Barkley deal that did not tell include these: The Kentucky primary is not scheduled until August but interested congressmen have heard Gov. Chandler intends to have his legislature move the date up to June.

Chandler's friends here are denying he instigated the proposal to give Senator Logan a judgeship, say he has no place else to go except the senate because he cannot run again for governor. Friends of Senator Logan declare his refusal to consider a judgeship was courageous, as he personally has desired to return to the bench for a long time.

Davis cup drawing in the Pan American building was a solemn occasion. International dignitaries were starched with stiff collars, gilded with shiniest braid. State secretary Hull delivered an excellent speech concerning the international amity engendered by the occasion.

All this time an attendant was perched on a ladder nearby with a pole pointed viciously at the very nose of a parrot in a cage to keep him quiet. (A parrot had once wrecked one of President Hoover's international speeches in the same building on an international occasion.)

The parrot was pressed to silence by the threat, but when the dignitaries were leaving, and immediately after the pole was removed from his back, he gave vent to long pent-up emotion. He distinctly shrieked: "Phooey!"

British Ambassador sir Ronald Lindsay turned to a companion and asked casually: "Do you think he was giving us the bird?"

General Hugh S. JOHNSON Says

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Mr. James Truslow Adams published a striking argument in the New York Times Magazine two weeks ago. Many commentators, including this one, have said that this country needs to fear a dictator because of its inbred tradition of democratic self-government. They have insisted that the despotic governments of today, like Russia, Germany, Poland and Italy, never did have self-government, do not understand it, and that all, to a greater or less extent, have always been goose-stepped by some variety of an all highest.

Mr. Adams' point is that, while it is true that the generations which settled this country were largely of the Anglo-Saxon self-governing type, vast additions of a different blood and breed from the despotic countries have thinned out the old pioneer stock until it no longer dominates. Crowding of multitudes into cities tends to regiment life and make it uniform.

The wiping out of old frontiers has restricted old freedoms. The net conclusion seems to be that these changed conditions make us exactly as apt for one-man government as any other nation.

There is no doubt that the trend has been exactly as Mr. Adams describes it. He might have borne down even a little harder on the effect of radio, movies, magazines of national circulation and other unitary national market to cast the whole country into one uniform mold. It tends to make people talk alike, think alike, behave alike and, to a certain extent look alike. It is a powerful force to create a robot population, a pushover for ballyhoo, canned predigested thinking and political scheming.

But with all that, I still believe no dictatorship would work here and I still think the reason is that this people trained and used to self-government could not be persuaded to give it up.

You can see the vast difference between a people who knows how to govern itself and one who does not by just stepping across the international boundary into Mexico. The clique that controls enough armed force runs that country and always has. In talk with farmers, workers and businessmen, you promptly learn this condition is accepted and you can't get any excitement out of them by condemning it.

Our melting-pot population votes. The second generation generally understands what makes the clock of government click and their share in it as well as their fellows of pioneer stock. It is not so much in the blood as in the training. The first generation of dictator trained immigrants is thinning out and few more are being added.

Nobody who had experience training troops in the World War is much disturbed by any fear that our system doesn't digest and make Americans out of a second generation European stock. The draft was a faithful cross-section sample of what we have here racially. American soldiers were as typical of no one but themselves as British or French soldiers.

That type was the same thing I saw strain through West Point and the old Army for 20 years—not taking at all to the wooden-soldier kind of formal discipline, highly skeptical of all forms of humbug, pretense and stuffy dignity, on the surface cynically hard-boiled but underneath almost sloppily sentimental—humorous, enthusiastic, cheery, grave.

You can fool stuff like that part of the time. You can out-gener them long in guests of enthusiasm—temporarily. But it is the worst material in the world on which to attempt the goose-stepping, heeling, posturing, shepherding, bunk and ballyhoo that must go with any attempt to take away their right to a say in their own government or to tell them just what they can or cannot do.

Modern circumstances, communications and inventions may have standardized themselves, but it is the standard of the same old stuff which built the country.
